I do not know what President Roosevelt said to Henry Ford, but I know what Henry Ford said to President Roosevelt, but I do know that whatever the automobile manufacturer said, with the record for a tremendous business success, back of him, must have been impressive, whether delivered to the chief executive or the man on the street. Out of the interview the nation hopes, irrespective of politics, that some recovery plan will eventuate.

Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston, takes a rap at what he calls "public filth," specifying "indecent dress, plays, films, books and magazines." I would like to put in a rap myself. We had some mighty clean entertainment in this country in what some people still call "the good old days," and you were not drawn through a sewer, either. We still have clean entertainment. Let's patronize that kind.

After waiting fifty years Orange is to get a new Santa Fe depot. Well, all I have to say about it, is that the railroad did not keep pace with the importance of the city. The first time I ever had a glimpse of the Orange depot was when I alighted from a Santa Fe train many years ago, and strange as it may seem, was surprised to meet Mort Miller, who was the father of Roosevelt, sometime later the mayor of Orange. The city will not lose its identity however, by the addition of a new depot. It still has the plaza, and the old Palmyra hotel.

When you get down to a lawsuit, fortunes fade. Report now drops four and one-half million from the Coogan estate. If the case drags along until the close of the year "Jackie" may be asking for help.

If the outlets for fruit are taken advantage of during the rest of the season, California orange prices should show an improvement, according to Paul Armstrong, general manager of the California Fruit Growers exchange. Well, if it seems that the outlets, I'll take full measure of any advantage to lift the price, and I have the backing of every other grower I've talked to.

The grass is growing. San Fernando valley to hold a "grass roots" convention next Tuesday.

Engineers this week discussed aspects of the March 2 flood. That's water over the dam, and everything else.

This was "school week," when our fellows were invited back, and few of us responded to the invitation. But we can raise more about what's going on without knowing what we are talking about, than a controversial political convention. If it seems that most of us are not interested where most of our money goes, notwithstanding the fact that school authorities invite our opinions and welcome constructive criticisms. What we ignore we should remain silent. If some of the guys at a wedding who are given a chance to object, say nothing until after the ceremony is over.

Ed Cochems sends me a panegyric he delivered over the radio, and along with my other affections he expects me to get well. Now, it appears, with my other obligations, I've got to equal Ed's generous appraisal of what he thinks I am, and of which I am doubtful.

If capital is to be regulated, labor should be regulated, President Jeffers, of the Union Pacific railroad, tells a Los Angeles Breakfast club audience. Venturing an "Uncle Ezra" what this country needs, Jeffers said it was a crying appeal for more private pay rolls.

The feather throated choir in my neighborhood introduces the concert along about five o'clock in the morning. It is just another reason why life is worth living.

I am not in sympathy with many things that are going on in the world today, but, by golly, there are too many good things to leave it before my summons comes along in the regular order.

Prizes are to be given for the beard-growing contest engaged in by jaycee students. Awards will be made May 20 on the campus, which is Fiesta time. If I can

Menton Takes Fee Squabble To High Court

2 BATTLESHIPS ASKED BY FDR

$5,000,000 Urged at Once From Congress

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress today to appropriate $5,000,000 at once to start construction of two new, replacement battleships.

His request was included in a letter to Speaker Bankhead asking for a $25,597,000 appropriation for the navy department for the rest of the fiscal year ending June 30. The President's request was accompanied by a letter from Daniel Bell, acting budget bureau director, explaining how the fund would be used.

"These estimates," President Roosevelt wrote Bankhead, "included $5,000,000 to provide for the laying down of two additional replacement battleships, authorized by the act approved March 27, 1934, in furtherance of the recommendations regarding the expansion of our national defense program, contained in my message to the congress of Jan. 28, 1935."

ITALY EDITOR HINTS AT WAR

ROME, (AP)—The authoritative Fascist editor, Virginio Gayda, criticizing the United States for what he termed "hostile manifestations" toward Italy, today demanded whether the American people desire "war" with Italy.

In a three-column, front page editorial in Il Giornale d'Italia, the wide-spread writer took particular exception to Rep. Byron Scott's proposal that violators of the Kellogg pact be identified as "aggressors."

Ex-Annapolis Man 'Skips' Sea Scouts

P. T. Chew, former instructor at the United States Naval academy at Annapolis, is the skipper in charge of a new Sea Scout troop being organized at Laguna Beach, according to Scout Executive Harrison White.

Sheriff Logan Jackson will be sued Monday in the fourth district court of appeal for an accounting of fees and commissions assertedly pocketed by him in violation of the county salary ordinance.

The six-month-old ordinance, political storm center since its passage, will get its first court test when Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton files with the court a petition for a writ of mandamus. The writ will require Jackson either to account for his fee collections or to show cause before the court at a later date.

The appellate court, which ends its session in Fresno this week, moves to San Diego Monday. Menton's petition, to be filed at the request of county supervisors—although they later slapped Menton with a request that Atty.-Gen. U. S. Webb handle the case—(Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Channel Islands Become Parks By FDR's Order

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt, by executive order today, made the Channel Islands off the coast of Southern California into a national monument.

Specifically set aside as a part of the monument were 538 acres of Anacapa island (a group of three islands) and 531 acres on Santa Barbara island. Certain lands on both islands were reserved for use by the bureau of lighthouses.

Brothers LaFollette Ask New Party

Governor Phillip LaFollette, (right) of Wisconsin, who could 'double' for his famous father 'Fighting Bob', demands a realignment behind a new banner of progressivism. His brother Senator Bob (above, left) was of the 'same thought', saying the issue posed was between 'progressives' and 'reactionaries' in both Republican and Democratic parties.

MURPHY BIDS HIGH, WIDE

"Foghorn" Murphy, famed political fixer-upper and deposed radio orator, demonstrated his talents here today before a chuckling courtroom of spectators.

The Foghorn was bidding on frozen assets of defunct Orange county banks in Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court. So were a dozen other would-be purchasers.

FORD VISITS MORGAN

NEW YORK, (AP)—Henry Ford, who from time to time had criticized Wall Street bankers, rode downtown from the Ritz-Carlton hotel today and paid J. P. Morgan a visit.

Accompanying him to the financial district was W. J. Cameron, Ford Motor company executive.

Ford last night gave the nation's newspaper publishers and the public something to mull over—a few puzzling sentences in which they sought to discover his personal opinion of the national administration. Ford lunched with President Roosevelt Wednesday.

One sentence, delivered to a ballroom full of publishers who awaited a pronouncement and heard, instead, a 25-word riddle, was this:

"We are all on the spot, stick to your guns and I will help you, with the assistance of my son, all I can."

What This Country Needs Now Is More Speakers Like Ford

NEW YORK, (AP)—Six stenotype operators were hired to record Henry Ford's speech at the bureau of advertising dinner last night, but there was nothing for them to do.

The operators, called in because Ford had not provided an advance copy of his remarks, were to have worked in relays in the event he spoke at length.

Ford said 25 words.

YOUTHS DENY GIRL KIDNAP

Rape Charge Still Holds Against Three

Possibility that kidnapping charges against Robert Barnes, 18, in connection with the alleged criminal assault of a 14-year-old Los Angeles girl, will be dismissed was seen today with the discovery of a witness expected to testify that the girl was not forced into the car occupied by Barnes and his two younger cousins.

Three youths were arraigned on charges of kidnapping and rape in Santa Ana justice court today, and Barnes' preliminary hearing was set for next Thursday morning.

Meanwhile, Alfred Germain was understood to have made a statement in the district attorney's office that he saw the boys stop and talk to the girl, and that she had gotten into the car, apparently willingly.

The girl, who had come to Santa Ana to meet two cousins with whom she planned to leave for a boarding school near San Luis Obispo, had told officers she was forced into the car and driven into the country where she was criminally attacked.

Germain's story served as corroboration for that of the three defendants, it was understood. They admitted inviting the girl into the car, driving to the country and scuffling with her, police said, but they denied both the attack and the kidnapping.

Barnes is being held in lieu of $5000 bail, set by Judge Kenneth E. Morrison at the conclusion of today's arraignment.

FORD REFUSES STRIKE PEACE

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The Ford Motor company today formally rejected a peace proposal of the National Labor Relations Board of advice here which intervened in efforts to end the strike at the company's assembly plant in the Long Beach-Whittier harbor district.

The rejection came in a telegram from W. F. Williamson, an Francisco attorney for the company, to Dr. Towne Nylander, regional director of the labor board.

Dr. Nylander suggested last Tuesday that the company rehire men on a seniority basis pending settlement of strike issues. Williamson said today the company is re-hiring "without discrimination," refusing to agree to any seniority rule.

Dr. Nylander said "this message is indicative of the company's refusal to cooperate."

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt recommended to congress today a $500,000 appropriation for a "comprehensive study" of the "concentration of economic power in American industry and the effect of that concentration upon the decline of competition."

In his long-promised message on anti-trust law revision, the President also proposed for immediate enactment the following legislation:

To "effectively control the operation of bank holding companies."

To "prevent holding companies from acquiring control of any more banks, directly or indirectly."

To "prevent banks controlled by holding companies from establishing any more branches."

To "make it illegal for a holding company, or any corporation or enterprise in which it is financially interested to borrow from, or sell securities to a bank in which it holds stock."

"I recommend," Mr. Roosevelt said, "that this bank legislation make provision for the gradual separation of banks from holding company control or ownership, allowing a reasonable time for this accomplishment—time enough for it to be done in an orderly manner and without causing inconvenience to communities served by holding company banks."

He declared the program was not the beginning of "any ill considered 'trust-busting' activity" (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

KRAEMER GIFTS ORDERED GIVEN

Requests of $14,500 by the late Samuel Kraemer, millionaire Placentia rancher and oil man, to relatives and churches were ordered distributed today by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel.

Judge Scovel granted a petition by executors of Mr. Kraemer's will, Gilbert, Arnold and S. P. Kraemer, for payment of the bequests.

Heirs of Edward M. and Benjamin Kraemer, deceased brothers, will receive a total of $10,000; Mrs. Mary L. Miller and Mrs. Emma T. Grimshaw of Anaheim, sisters, will get $1000 each, and churches and charitable organizations will get $2500.

Traffic Violators Assured 'Break'

Orange county traffic violators, arrested outside this area, and sentenced to attend traffic schools elsewhere, are going to get a break, if a plan urged by Elmer Heidt, chairman of Santa Ana's traffic committee, is put through.

The local lawbreakers can attend traffic school right in their own county, instead.

Heidt is asking motor vehicle officials to let Santa Ana's traffic school handle Orange county's violators. He would also have out-of-county motorists, picked up here, sent to schools nearest their homes.

Pio Pico's Carriage To Bowers Museum

The Bower Memorial museum has received as a permanent gift from Mrs. Luciana McFadden the carriage which belonged to Pio Pico, last of the Mexican governors to rule over California.

Scout Chairman Named Delegate

Col. M. B. Wellington, chairman of the Orange county Boy Scout council, was named today official delegate to the 29th annual National Boy Scout council convention at Cleveland, Ohio, May 13 and 14.

Wellington has been head of the Orange county council for nearly 20 years.

LA FOLLETTE TO ENTER LOCAL FIGHT

Progressives Open Nationwide Drive

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Governor Philip F. La Follette's lieutenants disclosed today California and Iowa are his immediate objectives in the organization of the new Progressive party outside Wisconsin.

Next will follow intensive campaigns in Illinois, the two Dakotas, Minnesota and Nebraska. The Progressives also have their eyes on several other Middle Western states and New York with the idea of establishing a bloc sufficient to wield powerful influence.

La Follette was in Des Moines today for a national radio broadcast. He will be in Cedar Rapids tomorrow with the apparent purpose of inducing the Farm-Labor party of Iowa to change its name to the Progressive party.

His associates said he would go to California within the next six weeks to support the campaign of Raymond Haight for governor on the Progressive ticket.

The first step in organization procedure was a thorough study of the election laws of all states to determine what legal obstacles must be met in getting the Progressive party label on the ballot.

La Follette's legal aides said they expected great handicaps in some states, but in the Middle (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

HEMOPHILIA VICTIM FADES

Hope of saving Charles Osborne, 21-year-old Placentia who has been steadily losing blood since his eye was removed Monday, was believed slim today as county hospital attendants looked pessimistically at reports of his falling blood count and an adverse reaction to his sixth blood transfusion.

Osborne, a hemophilia victim whose deficient bloodstream will not permit a clot to form, has been fighting against death since the emergency operation on his eye was performed. The operation was necessitated by complications following a blow he received during a fight in Anaheim.

The youth was given his sixth blood transfusion this morning. More than three quarts of new blood have been pumped into his veins, physicians said.

Travel-Minded Mountain Still Continues Capers

Orange county's moving mountain is still moving.

Although state maintenance crews have not scientifically gauged the activity of the restless hill in several days, officials say they are certain the mass of soil is still in motion, although it is traveling only at a snail's pace.

Situated in Galivan pass, between Santa Ana and San Juan Capistrano, the mound is believed by some to be floating on a subterranean natural reservoir. In the meantime, highway traffic is continuing to travel along a detour skirting the little mountain.

Infant Girl Near Death in Hospital

Condition of Grace Terry, 10-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Terry, South Laguna, whose skull was punctured in an auto accident last Sunday, had taken a turn for the worse in Orange county hospital today, and attaches admitted there was less than an even chance of saving the baby's life.

The child was injured when cars driven by her father and Jack Girst, 31, San Diego, collided near San Juan Capistrano. Gist was cited on a reckless driving charge in connection with the accident.

Death Valley Leader Named

DEATH VALLEY, (AP)—An engineering denizen of the western wilderness, T. R. (Ray) Goodwin, has been appointed first superintendent of Death Valley national monument.

Goodwin has been in Death Valley for the park service since the area was made a national monument in 1933.

Sixteen persons aboard this Pan American Airways plane were rescued when it landed at sea two miles from Kingston Harbor, Jamaica, after developing motor trouble and sighting the S. S. Cavina. The ship is shown just before it sank.

My objection to an airplane accident is that it usually only takes one to add fins to your career. Now in an automobile accident there is some chance that you can get into another, even if you don't look the same coming out of it.

The Federal Communications commission has refused a 15 per cent rise in telegraph rates. So when you get a message reading, "good game, send more money," it won't cost you any more, provided you do not send the money.

And then there is the little granddaughter who wants a piano so she can annoy the neighbors with her do re mi fa sol la si do, and later on take up vocal calisthenics, until she can click 'em off right up to a hemidemisemikwaver, which some one told me was a sixty-fourth note in music. I assume the rest of the thirty-sixth went out to look for the lost chord. Anyway, don't ask me. I have some knee-cap trouble, and I'm not singing.

In the world's greatest defensive alliance, the conferees ended their conversations shortly before 5 p. m.

They also mapped an economic-diplomatic campaign to prevent Germany from starving Czechoslovakia into submission and considered moves to relieve the economic pressure of Nazi Germany on other small neighbors of the Danubian region.

The two governments then announced a general agreement to defend their common democracy and to seek "a peaceful and just solution of problems" in Central Europe.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Premier Edouard Daladier, it was officially declared, agreed on continued discussions by their general staffs "as far as may be necessary" to coordinate their armed forces.

The French approved the Anglo-Italian accord signed at Rome April 16.

A communique said both countries felt that "the Mediterranean appeasement" thus affected would facilitate the withdrawal of foreign soldiers and arms from the Spanish civil war.

Race Track Head Injured in Crash

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Margarito Arce, manager of the Agua Caliente race track, and his brother Manuel, were injured early today when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a machine driven by James B. Coby, of Los Angeles.

They were treated for cuts and bruises. Coby was not injured.

Jap Emperor Notes Birthday

TOKYO. (AP)—Emperor Hirohito celebrated his 37th birthday today with the customary review of his troops but without much of the ceremony that has marked similar observances.

Later the emperor paid devotions before the three imperial sanctuaries, then received immediate members of the imperial family.

He granted audiences to military and government leaders, but the annual imperial banquet was cancelled.

The minister of his household said the emperor had placed a heavy burden on the monarch, that he frequently conferred with his ministers and army officers late into the night, and that he had been forced to give up his daily physical exercises.

CALIFORNIA IS 'GUINEA PIG'

West, New York and California, the problem already has been solved by third party movements.

The Progressive party emblem has been trade-marked in every state of the union. The emblem is a white circle, bordered in red, with a cross in the center representing a ballot mark and multiplication of wealth. The emblem is in the form of a blue flag.

Designing and trade-marking the emblem and work on the legal study have gone hand in hand with the consultations Governor La Follette has had with members of his party in Wisconsin and his Midwest associates.

His associates said he has made strong contacts with influential groups in the pivotal states, but they are secretive about the personalities involved.

One of the governor's secretaries explained the purpose of starting the movement in small groups, meeting privately with many states supporting the new party, but that no persons whose names are in the news were involved.

The governor's office reported today it had received numerous telegrams from individuals in many states supporting the new party, but that no persons whose names are in the news were involved.

The National Progressive Party of America was offered to the nation last night by La Follette who widened a French with President Roosevelt, junked political theories of other parties and set a new course in this direction:

"Definitely and irrevocably we are in the lists to stay until the American people recapture their heritage."

His heritage he defined as the right of every American "to earn his living by the sweat of his brow" security "founded on a definite, decent annual income for all," and freedom of conscience and control.

To attain these ends, La Follette declared for public, and not private, control and ownership of money and credit, "without qualification or reservation," a staunch defense of the "basic concepts of American government, and, in particular, that grants of privilege should always be safeguarded against abuse."

Flatly the governor opposed "every form of coddling, or spoon-feeding the American people," declaring that "whenever it may cost so help us God—we shall use the power of these United States to restore to every American the opportunity to help himself." After that, said La Follette, "he can sink or swim."

His graying thatch of hair disheveled and his face moist with perspiration, he outlined his plan for two hours last night to 5000 in the University of Wisconsin stock pavilion and an overflow crowd of 2000 outside who listened by loudspeaker.

A. A. Berle, assistant secretary of state and representative of Mayor La Guardia of New York, was the only national personage who appeared, but the governor's brother, U. S. Senator Robert M. La Follette, jr., sent a message of support from Washington.

The names of "important leaders" of other states, said to have endorsed the movement, were withheld for the time being by the governor and his associates.

MRS. A. GISLER WILLS $50,000

Mrs. Anna Gisler of Orange, who died March 31, left an estate worth more than $50,000. It was indicated today in superior court petitions for probate of her will and termination of her joint interest in property owned with her husband.

Her husband, Robert Gisler, filed the petitions and will under which he gets a life estate in her personal holdings, estimated at more than $10,000 and inherits directly cash and household and farm equipment. He asked the court to end her joint tenancy interest in a 10-acre ranch, two parcels of real estate in Santa Ana and $27,000 in notes.

After his death, her personal estate will be divided among seven children, Walter R., Tom P. and Harold Gisler and Lucille G. Al-lar of Orange, Emma G. Stoffel of Anaheim, Della G. Harpster of Bakersfield and Agnes G. Marshall of Huntington Beach.

Farmers of Tehama county have formed a committee to protect their interests in the Shasta reservoir.

50 PLANES IN JAP-CHINA AIR CAMPAIGN

HANKOW. (AP)—Fifty Chinese and Japanese airplanes fought a spectacular battle today over the Hankow area, keeping most of its million and a half population cheering, gasping or scattering for cover.

When the Japanese withdrew after half an hour of combat the result was indecisive. Five planes were seen to fall, but their nationality was not disclosed immediately.

The combat showed both sides ready to fight to a finish. With only 15 minutes warning, 23 Chinese pursuit planes rose to meet a force of enemy heavy bombers which reached the Hankow city—Hankow, Wuchang, Hanyang through a barrage of anti-aircraft fire.

Fifty bombs were loosed on the congested industrial section of Hankow.

Two planes collided and fell. Thirteen came down in flames. Six airmen took to parachutes. Three came down safely. One fell into the Yangtze river and his fate was unknown. The chute of one failed to open. That of the sixth man collapsed on the way down.

COUNTY TO SUE JACKSON

Leges Jackson has made a profit from the 12 cents per meal he gets for feeding prisoners, and has pocketed fees in excess of the $200 a month allowed him by the ordinance in lieu of a salary increase which becomes effective next term.

Jackson will be official "guinea pig" in the test for four other officials: purser E. E. Stephenson, Coroner Earl Abbey, Recorder Fred Sidebottom and Health Officer Dr. K. H. Sutherland—whose fees Supervisors N. E. West and John Mitchell attempted to have collected by the county when they wrote the controversial law.

Jackson's personal attorney, Judge F. C. Drumm, will appear for him when arguments on the writ are heard by the appellate court, and will attack validity of the supervisors' method of collecting the fees.

The salary ordinance, first proposed more than a year ago, caused a furor unequaled in local political history. "Fee officials" questioned the board's right to take the money they were allowed by state law. West denounced them in bitter language, threatening grand jury ouster proceedings. Libel suits were threatened.

The grand jury's investigation resulted in West's accusation on four counts, including bribery, malicious statements against officials and impeding law and order during the 1936 citrus strike. He was acquitted on the bribery charges and the first two had been dismissed at the start of a dramatic trial.

The ordinance was drafted by West and Mitchell, who later took it out of Mention's hands and had parts rewritten by outside attorneys which were later attacked. It must be amended before July 1 if its illegal provisions, if any, are to be remedied so they may apply to officers elected this year.

Church Union Fight Continues

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Fate of a plan to merge three great branches of Methodism was placed today in the hands of delegates to the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Bishop John N. Moore, chairman of the Commission on Church Union, submitted the proposal and informed the hushed crowd that the Methodist Episcopal (north-ern) and Methodist Protestant churches already have approved the program which would create a Methodist church of some 8,000,000 members.

Bishop Moore told the delegates that the commission "unanimously approves" the plan which would bring some 3,000,000 Southerners into the single church.

NURSES HEAR PHYSICAL HEAD

Miss Beatrice Anderson, in charge of physical education and corrective posture work in the Los Angeles public school system, was the principal speaker at a recent meeting of the Nurses of the Public Health Group, in district 16, conducted at Knott's Berry farm.

Special guests at the occasion were Dr. Margaret Baker and Mrs. John Tesmann of Santa Ana. Gretha Scott Dale of Santa Ana presided. She is president of the district. In charge of the program were Mrs. James Anderson, Mrs. Carmen Luke and Miss Dewey Neumeier.

Gracia Groves presented a group of her accordion students in a brief musical program. Pupils participating included: Jack Miles, James Marshall, Ivan Tourant, Calvia Groves, Richard Scott, Viola Gaston, Arlene Tracy, Margaret Whitson, Claudia Hundley, Betty Mills and Bob Greenwald. Kathryn Stockton and Joan Hockaday, accompanied by Mrs. Louis Vorhis, rendered several vocal solos.

VAUGHN SAVED FROM CHAIR

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—John W. Vaughn, condemned killer who twice has cheated the electric chair through "acts of God," had a 24-hour lease on life today.

He hoped it furnished enough time to convince some court he was insane or to obtain a stay of execution until the issue was settled.

Last night, shortly before he was to make his second trip to the death chamber within eight days, Gov. James V. Allred relieved him for a day. Judge Fountain Kirby at Groesbeck had issued an injunction restraining prison officials from executing Vaughn until a sanity hearing is held.

Although Vaughn was re-

rieved, Johnny Banks, negro killer who also won a week's delay when the electric chair's generator failed to function, a week ago this morning, died on schedule.

Lawyers Probe Coogan Earnings

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Jackie Coogan and his lawyers busied themselves today trying to find proof he had earned as a child film star more than the $1,300,000 fixed by his mother, and why the fortune had dwindled to $545,924.

Gray, his friend, as the state set the stage today for the wheel-chair appearance of Raymond himself as a witness in the trial of three police officers charged with attempting to murder him last Jan. 14.

Gray said that two days after Raymond pressed the starter of his automobile and set off a bomb that gave him 150 body wounds he was threatened with some of the same medicine.

RAILROADS TO REDUCE WAGES FOR WORKERS

CHICAGO. (AP)—The Association of American Railroads adopted today a resolution under the railway labor act to serve notice of a 15 per cent wage reduction effective July 1 for all classes of labor.

The cut would represent a saving of $250,000,000 annually to member roads, the association said. In a memorandum, the association stated the wage cut was necessary because of loss of revenue and increases in operating costs.

Revenue losses the association laid to a decline in traffic, diversion of traffic to competing forms of transportation and inadequacy of the recent freight rate raise allowed by the interstate commerce commission.

BROTHERHOOD WILL FIGHT REDUCTION

CLEVELAND. (AP)—D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, declared today "there will be no wage reduction agreed to by railroad employees."

Robertson said the wage reduction resolution of the Association of American Railroads was "an attempt to embarrass the President in his efforts to bolster recovery." He asserted the wage bill of the railroads has been reduced $40,000,000 a month since last October.

which lacks proper consideration for economic results," but was a program to "preserve private enterprise for profit by keeping it free enough to be able to utilize all our resources of capital and labor at a profit."

"Concentration of private power existing today was without equal in history" and was "growing," the President said.

He announced he would ask a deficiency appropriation of $200,000 for the department of justice to provide for the "proper and fair enforcement of the existing anti-trust laws" and added the study he proposed, to be conducted by the federal trade commission, justice department and the securities commission, should not be confined to the anti-trust field but should cover the "effects of tax, patent, and other government policies."

"There should be an examination of the existing price system and the price policies of industry to determine their effect upon the general level of trade, upon unemployment, upon long term profits and upon consumption," Mr. Roosevelt asserted.

Enumerating some of the items for study, he said the anti-trust laws should be made susceptible of practical enforcement by "casting upon those charged with violations the burden of proving facts peculiarly within their knowledge."

7 Die as Balloon Hit by Lightning

PARIS. (AP)—Two French army officers were burned to death and five soldiers were seriously injured today when lightning struck a captive balloon over the Maginot line, France's eastern frontier fortification system. The balloon was being used to survey artillery practice near Bitche.

BLODGET TELLS COUNTY LEAGUE CITIES MUST HELP ONE ANOTHER

Richmond of Orange and Mann of Anaheim Dwell on Necessity of Taking Interest

City Attorneys L. W. Blodget, of Santa Ana; Gordon X. Richmond, of Orange, and Mayor Charles Mann of Anaheim were the principal speakers at last night's Orange County League of Municipalities meeting in the Green Cat cafe.

ORANGE NAMES FOUR OLDSTERS

Oldest of all the county pioneers who have registered for Orange's Golden Jubilee celebration next Tuesday, four early settlers, were named today for the honor of being special guests at the dedicatory dinner in Orange Legion hall Monday evening.

They are H. S. Pankey, 85, 815 North Broadway, Santa Ana, who has lived 66 years in the county; Mrs. Elma T. Lee, 94, 626 Palm avenue, Orange, a resident of the county 51 years, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Polley, 325 West Palmyra avenue, Orange, who have lived there since the city was incorporated 50 years ago.

Officials said they represent the oldest man, oldest woman and oldest couple registered. Gov. Frank F. Merriam will speak at the dinner which will dedicate Orange's new $35,000 Santa Fe station.

Les Thuet and his band will furnish music for the golden jubilee dance Tuesday evening, following the celebration. Dancing will start at 9 p. m. following the night ball game.

JUNIOR COLLEGE DRAMA TONIGHT

The Santa Ana Junior college dramatics department will present the three-act play, "The Goose Hangs High," this evening in the high school auditorium as part of the series of entertainments in observance of public schools week.

No admission will be charged. Bruce Buell and Catherine Eklund take prominent parts in the production as Mr. and Mrs. Ingals. Joe Allen and Ruth Liggett play the roles of the Ingals' twin children and Russell Haney acts the part of the older brother.

Other students in the play are: Eileen Reid, Faye Holford, Vic Rowland, Anne Wetherall, Ed Alberte, Virgil Stevens, Betty Jane Moore and Wilbur Marsters. Miss Moore is director. The play will be supervised by Ernest Crozier Phillips, drama instructor.

MRS. C. CONDON LEAVES $15,000

Mrs. Clara B. Condon of Orange, who died April 8, left her $15,000 estate to her two daughters, according to a will on file today for probate in superior court.

Petition for probate was filed by one of the daughters, Miss Margery Condon, who listed $8000 in notes, stocks and residences in Long Beach and Orange as separate property, divided between herself and her sister, Mrs. Clara Condon Angell of Westport, Conn. Miss Condon also asked the court to terminate her mother's interest in another residence in Orange, owned jointly by mother and daughter. The will was dated Nov. 10, 1937.

TALKS ON AFRICA

Dr. Marion McCoy, missionary from Africa, will tell of her experiences at a meeting in the Four-square church this evening. A musical program also will be presented.

Ordinance Drafted To Insure Safe, Sane July Fourth

Those awful firecrackers that explode like a keg of dynamite will no longer be heard in Orange county if the board of supervisors and city councils in this area adopt the universal fireworks ordinance recommended by Fire Chief Frank W. Crocker of Newport Beach last night before the Orange county League of Municipalities meeting in Santa Ana.

The ordinance was drafted by the fire chiefs of this county "to provide for greater safety to life and property."

It bans any salutes or fireworks containing flash powder, fireworks using phosphorus or chlorate of potash. Aerial bombs or pieces designed to rise from the ground and explode in the air are on the restricted list.

The taboo is likewise placed on any kind of torpedo "thrown or projected to explode on impact."

And no firecracker would be allowable over one-fourth inch in diameter or more than one-half inch in length.

The safe variety of fireworks are: Cap pistols and caps, sparklers and flares, flower pots or fountains.

Only established business houses and fraternal organizations could sell fireworks and no sales could be made before June 25. The proposed law would not permit using fireworks before the third of July, nor after July 5. Violators of the act would be subject to a fine of $100 or 50 days in jail, or both.

Couple Promotes First Installment On Wedding Cost

Joe Mata, 32, and Sara Moreno, 40, 1807 West Third street, are going to get married Monday so they no longer will be contributing to the delinquency of the minor children who are reported to have been living with them.

It was all decided yesterday—with a little persuasion. They readily admitted living together since the flood, but said the only reason they hadn't married was that they didn't have the $2 for a license.

Yesterday Mata was held as "security" on a contributing charge, while Mrs. Moreno went out to borrow the money. She returned presently, and the two fled intentions to wed. They will get their license Monday.

Botanic Gardens Appoints Special Visiting Day

A special visiting day at Rancho Santa Ana Botanic gardens in Santa Ana canyon was announced today for Saturday, May 7.

Mrs. Susanna Bixby Bryant, managing director of the gardens, said the special day was arranged because of the large number of requests from those unable to visit the garden on the regular Friday visiting day in April, May and June.

Admission cards, which are necessary for visitors, may be obtained by writing the rancho, R. F. D. 3, box 327, Anaheim, or by applying at the Santa Ana chamber of commerce.

BAD CHECK CHARGE

Alexander M. Elmslie, 48, Los Angeles, was arrested by Huntington Beach police yesterday on a fictitious check charge.

ARCHEOLOGICAL OFFICIALS MEET TOMORROW

Officials and members of the Archeological federation will meet at the Bower Memorial museum tomorrow where reports from a half dozen museums in Southern California will be rendered.

Preceding the session at the museum the group will visit Orange county's archeological field beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning. At noon they will dine at the Doris Catherine tea room and shortly after 1 o'clock the group will meet in the museum to hear the reports.

The affair will be presided over by Dr. James Beveridge of Covina. Reports will be heard from persons representing the following museums: Dr. Banks Rogers of Santa Barbara, Dr. Lopatin of the University of California at Los Angeles, Dr. Fred Hodge of the Southwest museum in Los Angeles, Dr. Arthur Woodward of the Los Angeles Exposition park museum and Malcolm Rogers of the San Diego museum.

MISS HEIL WINS KEY TO 'KAPPA'

Miss Elizabeth (Betty) Heil, 915 Spurgeon street, has been elected to the Pomona college chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity, it was announced today.

Miss Heil, an economics major, has maintained an "A" average during her four years at the college. During this period she has participated in dramatic activities, has been a member of the college choir and orchestra, and the women's dancing society.

She is a sponsor for acquainting freshmen girls with Pomona and a member of Mortar Board, women's honorary society. A former Santa Ana high school pupil.

L. A. Man Jailed For Trespassing

Charged with trespassing on the Pixley ranch, between Orange and Placentia, Howard W. Humm, 24 Los Angeles, was committed to the county jail today in lieu of a $50 fine assessed by the Orange justice court.

Officers said Humm refused to leave the property when ordered to do so, and exhibited a gun, which was taken away when the visitor was arrested.

Models for Modern Business Block To Be Shown Thursday

The University of Southern California College of Architecture will unveil models of a proposed modernization program for several blocks of Santa Ana's central business district at a public dinner meeting in the Ebell clubhouse, Thursday, May 5, 6:30 p. m.

Gordon Whitnall, city planning consultant, will be the principal speaker on a program aimed at showing how Santa Ana business can be improved through city planning.

The miniatures and plans are the culmination of a four months' survey conducted here by the school. They will also be on display, together with other accomplishments of the college, May 6 and 7 at the clubhouse.

Whitnall will speak on "Something of Interest to Santa Ana." Mayor Fred G. Rowland will be among the honored guests. Other speakers will be A. C. Weatherhead, dean of the college of architecture; C. M. Baldwin, professor in charge of the field work; G. W. Bassett, secretary of the Orange County Builders' exchange; and Robert McClain, president of the University of Southern California college of architecture.

The building survey here has centered around the block on East Fourth street, between Bush and Spurgeon, and on West Fourth, between Birch and Broadway.

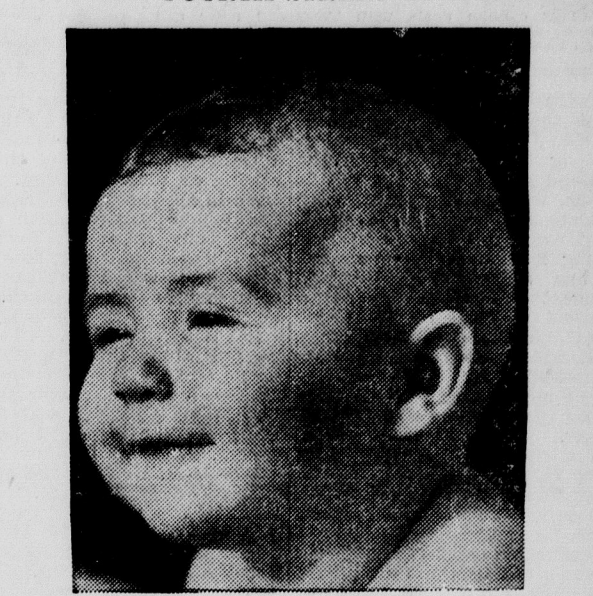

"Object of the field trip at Santa Ana this year," according to Stan Butler, student chairman in charge of the dinner, "has been to give pupils the chance of making practical application of their class work and also to urge development along lines of a modern community." Tamara Rees is assisting Butler in making arrangements for the dinner.

SUSPECT HELD IN HOTEL ROW

Arrested last week on felony assault charges in connection with an alleged brawl in an Anaheim hotel, David George Marsh, 34, 1146 West Santa Ana street, Anaheim, was committed to the county jail yesterday after pleading guilty to a reduced charge of simple assault.

He drew an alternative of paying a $100 fine or serving a 50-day jail sentence.

William F. Connor, Los Angeles, was arrested with Marsh on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. L. H. Haney, proprietor of the Pleasant hotel in Anaheim, was complaining witness.

TOWNSEND
NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

Of the five candidates who sought the favor of the recent Riverside G.O.P. convention, three had long been aligned with the Townsend movement. Mayor C. T. Johnson, who became the favored candidate, has been vice president of a Townsend club in San Bernardino. Roy J. Webb of Arlington has served the Townsend movement conspicuously as a Townsend national representative out of the Chicago office for a considerable period, and William R. Cogswell of San Bernardino has gone up and down the district for a long period as a Townsend speaker.

An analysis of the first ballot cast by the convention showed surprising Townsend strength. When the vote was counted 1345 ballots had been cast and the three Townsend-connected candidates received 494 votes out of the total. This represented more than one-third of the convention. And mind you, this occurred in a major political party convention which was being threatened by the formation of a competitive political party in a measure made possible by the candidates who were given more than a third of the votes of the convention on the first ballot.

All in all, the writer thinks that the Republican convention unwittingly conveyed to the Townsendites of the district just how a live proposition the Republicans and politicians in general consider the Townsend organization to be.

Santa Ana Club No. 11 is meeting at 6:30 tonight in the Franklin school at 1512 West Fourth street to serve home made apple pie with ice cream. Afterwards at 7:30 a Townsend meeting will be conducted.

Walter R. Robb is the speaker before Orange Club No. 2 which meets at 7:30 tonight in the Townsend club building, with Mrs. Abbie Gould, president in charge. Santa Ana Clubs Nos. 1 and 7 are holding a joint meeting at 7:30 tonight in the Roosevelt school on East First street according to Peter Benthien. A program of entertainment has been arranged.

IRRIGATION
FUNDS SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, (P)—The National Reclamation association has asked western congressmen to consider ear-marking $65,000,000 of the proposed new relief-spending appropriation for irrigation works. Attached to an association bulletin distributed on Capitol Hill was a table prepared by Secretary Ickes listing nearly 70 projects on which funds could be "profitably expended."

Ickes, in a letter to Senator Hayden (D., Ariz.), said $54,926,000 could be "profitably used to expedite the reclamation program for regular projects and for an incomplete list of projects proposed in the Great Plains area."

Ickes' tabulation listed $40,000,000 as the additional amount which could be spent to enlarge the regular reclamation program. He included: Arizona-California-Yuma, $150,000; California-All-American canal, including Coachella, $2,500,000; Central valley, $3,000,000.

FDR BLAMED FOR NAVY BILL

WASHINGTON, (P)—Senator La Follette (Progressive, Wisconsin), expressed belief in the senate that the $1,156,546,000 naval expansion program originated with President Roosevelt and not the navy department.

Denouncing the program, La Follette told the senate: "I am convinced that in finding the final responsibility for promulgation of this program, we must look to the President of the United States."

Joe Camilleri, Lake county, bought 100 feeder pigs at Laytonville, Mendocino county.

MURPHY'S RED-CAP ANT STAKE ANTS The Modern Way Ask your local dealer. Murphy Seed Co., Los Angeles has something to say about how different cigarettes can be!

"How about it, Joe, do you find that Camels are different from other cigarettes?"

"Any all-cigarettes-are-alike talk doesn't jibe with my experience. There's a big difference. I've smoked Camels steadily for 5 years, and found that Camel is the cigarette that agrees with me, in a lot of ways. Good taste. Mildness. Easy on the throat. And Camels don't give me jumpy nerves. Like a lot of other people I know, I'd walk a mile for a Camel!"

BILL GRAHAM, seeing Joe DiMaggio pull out his package of Camels, asked his opinion on smoking. Joe came straight to the point: "There's a difference, a big difference, between Camels and the others." You, too, will find in Camels a matchless blend of finer, more expensive tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic.

PEOPLE DO APPRECIATE THE COSTLIER TOBACCOS IN CAMELS

THEY ARE THE LARGEST-SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA

Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic

JOE KEEPS his hand in on mending nets. His family are fisher folk. DiMaggio is 6 feet tall—weighs around 185 pounds. His nerves are h-e-a-l-t-h-y!

IN THE KITCHEN of his picturesque water front restaurant, Joe says: "I eat pretty much what I like all season long and smoke Camels with my meals and afterwards, 'for digestion's sake.'"

CLOSE-UP OF JOE'S GRIP. "Ball players go for Camels in a big way," he says. "I'm a steady smoker myself. Camels have real mildness all right—don't irritate my throat."

ONE SMOKER TELLS ANOTHER

Camels agree with me

"TOBACCO
GROWERS FAVOR
CAMELS FOR THEIR SMOKING!"

— is the majority opinion in a survey of well-known tobacco planters

"When Camel says 'costlier tobaccos' I know it's right," says Mr. Edward Estes, capable young planter, who knows tobacco from the ground up because he grows it. "Take my last crop, for instance. Camel bought all the best parts—paid me the most I've ever gotten. The men who grow tobacco know what to smoke—Camels!"

"Last year I had the dandiest crop ever," says Mr. Roy Jones, another experienced planter who prefers Camels. "I smoke Camels because I know they bid higher and pay more at the auctions for the choice lots of leaf tobacco. They paid the highest price I ever got from anybody. Considering that Camel uses finer, costlier tobaccos, it's not surprising that Camel is the leading cigarette with us planters."

Mr. Harold Craig, too, bases his preference for Camels on what he knows about the kinds of tobaccos that go into the various cigarettes. "I get the check—so I know that Camels use more expensive tobaccos. Camel got the best of my last crop. That holds true with most planters I know too. You bet I smoke Camels."

FDR REVOKES 1934 ORDER ON SILVER COIN

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt revoked a 1934 proclamation requiring everyone to turn into the treasury any silver not in the form of coin or needed for genuine industrial or artistic purposes.

Treasury officials said that practically all the silver involved had been purchased by the treasury at the rate of 50 cents an ounce, and the old regulations were revoked to simplify procedure in handling newly mined silver. The treasury pays 64.64 cents an ounce for the newly mined silver.

Under the nationalization program 113,031,400 ounces of silver have been turned into the treasury.

Coast Club Dinner Given By Quartet

So many charming and successful parties have been hosted by that popular foursome, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Flagg and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chandler that last night's formal dinner party at which they entertained was in a way a repetition of well-known hospitality. Coupled with the loveliness of the Pacific Coast club as setting, their courtesy to nearly eighty guests was particularly enjoyable, however.

Mrs. Chandler's evening gown featured a bouffant blue net skirt with bodice of delicate white embroidery. A tiny cocktail hat ringed with gardenias completed the smart ensemble. Mrs. Flagg wore smart black net over tulle with a dashing white lace bolero. In the receiving line with the hosts and hostesses were their daughters, Mrs. Riley Huber (Margaret Flagg) in black net over tulle, Miss Jimmie Flagg in black organdy and Mrs. Arthur Durby (Ray Chandler) in vivid red satin lacy with her dark hair. The costumes of all were enhanced by beautiful orchids sent by Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Drumm and gardenias sent by Mr. and Mrs. James Irvine.

Also assisting in the duties of welcoming and checking guests were Mrs. George Briggs, stately in shell-hued lace, and Mrs. R. C. Holmes in a soft draped frock of daffodil chiffon.

Dinner tables in a private dining room were charmingly decorated in shades of pink and rose, with bowls of tulips and snapdragons alternated by tall pink tapers in crystal candelabra. Menus and courses carried out the color scheme very effectively.

Later the entire group adjourned to the library where bridge was enjoyed, with the high couple prize going to Mr. and Mrs. Z. B. West, and high individual prizes going to Mrs. Howard Timmons and Paul Dinsmore.

Invited to the affair were the Messrs. and Mesdames Hugh J. Lowe, Lawrence Leonard, G. Swales, Howard Timmons, H. T. Dunning, Edward Hall, I. F. Landis, Herbert Miller, J. K. Hermon, Paul Dinsmore.

The Messrs. and Mesdames R. C. Holmes, C. V. Davis, John Walls, George Briggs, F. C. Drumm, James Irvine, Dixon Tubbs, Frank Sawyer, Emil Wagner, Harold Brown, Lyman Farwell, Edgar Elstrom, John Scripps.

The Messrs. and Mesdames Z. B. West, Gilbert Kraemer, Sam Kraemer, E. J. MacMullen, R. Huber, Arthur Durby, Charles Kendall, W. B. Williams, Emrys D. White, Lloyd Chenoweth, Robert G. Tutill, William T. White.

Dr. and Mrs. Claude Oewiler, Mrs. Marguerite Borgmeyer, Mrs. Sara Johnston, Haddon, Richard, Winckler, Mrs. Will Flood, and Miss Jimmie Flagg.

Maid's Position Trains Girl For Womanhood's Duties

A truly fine and encouraging outlook on life came to my attention this morning when a letter written on lovely blue purple stationery with a white border came to my desk from my friend, the postman.

The handwriting is artistic and shows character and although the letter is only signed "W. M. H. Santa Ana," I would guess the reader to be a lovely serene personality, and a home-maker, quite a bit older than our "Moody," the young girl who is doing housework to put herself through school, and who wrote us her problems not so long ago. The letter is addressed merely "To Moody," and its writer may have undergone the same experience when she was a girl, or she may be speaking from the wisdom of a well lived life.

"The status of maid will some day rank with, if not above, many professions as it is the best training for the highest profession of woman, that of wife, mother, and hostess."

"The training should be preferably in a small home at first where you learn the meaning of the little things that make a perfect home. When men and women recognize this fact, the world will be a better place to live in."

"Wear your uniform. Be proud of it! Never intrude on the privacy of the family. You will find yourself most desirable."

Here is a little afterthought that came to me: Think how proud "Moody" will be when some day she has her own home and own things to do with, and how much better equipped she will be to take up the happy duties of a wife and homemaker than most girls when they are first married.

Luncheon Is Given In Ebell Club

Three matrons long noted for their gracious hospitality joined as hostesses yesterday to give a delightful spring luncheon, and it was fitting that as prominent Ebellites they should receive their friends in the spacious Peacock room of the Ebell clubhouse. Mrs. Lewis Moulton, Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh and Mrs. Paul Bailey were the trio thus to entertain.

With the assistance of Mrs. James Allen they arranged jardinières of iris in ivory and lavender hues around the room and foyer, and centered each luncheon table with a small glass bowl of purple and gold pansies. The same luscious colors characterized cellophane wrappings and ribbons on the lovely prizes of crystal which were later awarded, and the pretty place cards. A lovely note of contrast was the bowl of sweet peas sent by Mrs. Charles F. Smith.

Mrs. Moulton in flowered crepe, Mrs. Slabaugh in pasted printed chiffon and Mrs. Bailey in pearl grey chiffon with vivid bolero of fuchsia hue, were assisted in greeting their guests by Mrs. Robert G. Tutill, Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank and Mrs. Roy Hall. Also gracious in moving about among the many tables were Mrs. Glenn Mathis (Charlotte Moulton), Mrs. Russell Reagan (Helen Slabaugh) and Mrs. Earl P. Hoisington (Virginia Slabaugh).

For convenience the guest list was divided into five major groups for card-scoring, and winners in each division were Mrs. J. E. Gowen, Mrs. S. M. Davis, Mrs. Marguerite Borgmeyer, Mrs. Harry Westover and Mrs. Harvey Bennett.

MR. SIMPSON IS HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

R. G. Simpson was surprised Wednesday evening when his wife honored him at a birthday party. Mrs. Simpson used many lovely spring flowers from her own garden and from the garden of her mother, Mrs. Claude Fowler. Whoopie was played during the evening, with prizes going to Mr. and Mrs. Ora Sands and to George Hill.

Refreshments were served at small tables, each centered with a bouquet of sweet peas. A lovely birthday luncheon was served by the hostess, who was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Fowler. Mr. Simpson received a number of gifts, which he unwrapped at the party.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Lane of Tustin, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Keese of Anaheim, Mr. and Mrs. George Hall of Costa Mesa, Mr. and Mrs. Max Bothin, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hassett, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Fowler and Mr. and Mrs. Ora Sands, all of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Long of Long Beach, and the hosts.

BENEFIT TEA IS GIVEN BY AID LADIES

The lovely home of Mrs. Fred Strong, at 1348 South Ross street, was the scene of a benefit tea yesterday afternoon from 2 to 5 p. m., to which half a hundred ladies aid members from the First Christian church flocked. Proceeds are to go to the home for the aged maintained by the Christian church.

Mrs. Strong was assisted by a group of co-hostesses, the Mesdames A. W. Gerrard, T. D. Knights, James O'Brien, C. M. Stein, Emma Kester, C. F. Skirvin and C. L. Crasher. Mrs. Gerrard and Mrs. Skirvin poured at the beautifully decorated tea table, centered with a bouquet of pink pentstemon intermingled with baby breath in a white bowl. White tapers in white candle holders were at each end of the lace-covered table. Mrs. W. S. Buchanan assisted in receiving guests at the door.

CLUB MEETS IN FULLERTON

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wiedmeier of Fullerton entertained their pinocchio club, known as the F. F. C. C. club, Wednesday evening in their flower-decked home.

A dessert course was served by the hostess, and prizes were given Mrs. Elmer Ellington and the host. Present were the Messrs. and Mesdames Ernest Kastorff of Capistrano, Elmer Ellington of Costa Mesa, Clarence Ellridge of Corona, Mar. George Randall of Santa Ana, and Jack Gish of Orange.

Baer Liked S. A. Boxer

While Maxie Baer, the reformed play-boy who once held the world's heavyweight crown, looked on at Ontario Wednesday night, Joe Palacio, 132-pound slugger from the Orange County Athletic club, won his preliminary "go" on Match-maker George Stewart's card.

Baer, who sat there waiting to referee the final four bouts, got a big kick out of the Santa Ana's fight, which many observers thought was the best of the evening.

MAX ADELBERT BAER
Impressed by Santa Ana

Palacio was an eleven-hour substitute at the Ontario Legion arena. Frankie Lockhart of Walker's gymnasium in Santa Ana, who has been engaged as Promoter M. J. (Bud) Levin's boxing match-maker at the O. C. A. C., had taken part of his stable—including Palacio, Al and Ben Garcia, Jack Malone and Johnny Nunez—to the inland arena merely as spectators and to pick up pointers for his own inaugural show, tentatively slated for May 9 at the Highway 101 arena. Palacio was the only one called on to fight, and that merely as a favor to Stewart.

There is much red-tape attached to gaining a boxing permit. Levin was ready to start the tussles April 25. There was a delay. He postponed 'em to May 2. There was another delay. He has made no promises, but has some assurance that he will be permitted to open May 9.

This much is certain: Boxing will be held on Monday nights. Thursday is wrestling night at the O. C. A. C., and since he had to struggle to get this date from the state athletic commission, Levin does not wish to attempt to change the dates at this time. The promoter believes boxing will click here on Mondays, and has utmost faith in Lockhart, pint-sized match-maker (a Santa Ana boy) who keeps in touch with the game through regular visits to the Wilmington, Ontario and other arenas. Referee Baer appeared on the "Good News of 1938" broadcast from KFT last night.

Is Guy Grigg Correct?

Seldom—if ever—does a sports editor fail to welcome contributions. Guy Grigg, well known Santa Ana furniture salesman, sends in his pet predictions on current national events, and they're interesting enough to pass on to you.

Do you agree with Grigg that: War Admiral will defeat Sea-biscuit in their match race at Belmont park, New York, May 30?

Barney Ross will knock out Henry Armstrong? Joe Louis will retain his world's heavyweight boxing title against Max Schmeling in New York June 22, and until—and if—he meets Max Baer?

Staghand will win the Kentucky derby? (P. S. Grigg can get in an argument here with The Journal's turf expert, Frank (Sharpshooting) Fiske, who insists it will be Redbreast in the blue grass classic).

New York's Yankees will retain the world's series baseball championship?

Los Angeles will win the Pacific Coast league baseball title? This fall will "see" a real business boom?

Grigg certainly can't be wrong on much of the above crystal balling. In fact, this department believes he's hit the nail on the head on all except the Ross knock-out and Los Angeles in the Coast league. We still like Armstrong and Portland.

PILUSO, PASHA STEAL SHOW

Lutze Batters Montgomery

By MATT BURNS

Nick Lutze and Bob Montgomery, who got all of the pre-program headlines, but Ernie Piluso and All Pasha stole most of the thunder of the Orange County Athletic club's four-bout wrestling show before a near-capacity crowd last night.

The Highway 101 arena walls were expected to shake with earthquake-like movements when Lutze and Montgomery hooked up in their rematch to settle last week's feud, but actually it was mild compared to their first meeting.

Lutze made Montgomery say "uncle" in the first fall with a deadly hammerlock in 17:51. Almost every good hold Lutze clamped on was broken when Montgomery began biting his way out of them. Burly Bob took the second fall in 8:46 with body slams, Lutze winning the third and deciding one in 2:48. Josef Smallinski, who didn't add to his popularity by seconding Montgomery, challenged Lutze to a no-holds barred match for next-Thursday night. It was accepted.

Best wrestling of the evening was contributed by Ernie Piluso, popular New Yorker who substituted for the ailing Phil Romano, and Ali Pasha, the hair-clipped Arabian. Pasha, one of the strongest foreigners ever to appear here, caught Piluso in a full Nelson and applied body slams to win the fall in 18:15. The clever wrestler became so entangled at intervals that they could not determine which feet were which.

Smallinski won the first fall from Casey Colombo with a Boston crab in 18:12, lost the second in the quick time of 1:04 with an arm-lock and body slam, won the third in 9:01 with body slams and another Boston crab.

"Lefty" Pacer, a powerful new-comer, defeated rough-and-ready Jim Goodrich in 8:57 of the preliminary with body slams and what-nots.

LEFTY GROVE 6-1 VICTOR OVER YANKS

Leiber's Homer Aid To Giants, 4-2; Cards Sink Pirates

By GAYLE TALBOT

Associated Press Sports Writer

Robert Moses Grove is getting gray around the temples and he no longer can rear back and fog his fast ball past the batters for inning after inning, but the tall southpaw at 38 still is one of baseball's master craftsmen.

It's a treat to watch him work now, particularly if you happen to have been away from the big league ball yard for five years. The last time you saw him he was with the Athletics, blinding the batters with his speed. Now he is with the Boston Red Sox, his phenomenal smoke ball all but a thing of the past, yet he is in some ways a greater figure on the mound.

Watching him throttle the Yankees yesterday, 6 to 1, with five hits, it occurred that he had been forced to learn to pitch all over again. Only a half-dozen times did he cut loose with the remnant of his fast one. The rest of the time Lefty was baffling the Yankees with a sweeping curve, immaculate control and a change of pace he would have spurned in the days when he was blowing men down.

He held Lou Gehrig hitless in three official times at bat, running the highest-salaried player's total to three hits in 34 times at the plate. Lou perhaps for the first time in his life is getting a chorus of Bronx cheers (the authentic variety) every time he shows at the rubber.

While the veteran Grove was doing all this to the Yankees and knocking them out of the first division, his teammates piled into Lefty Gomez for all their runs in the first four innings. Roger Cramer led the attack with three solid smacks. When the Yankees finally did threaten Grove in the last of the ninth, getting two on with none out, they were stopped by a triple play, Fox to Cronin to Fox, that ended the contest. It was a beauty.

Hack Leiber, the season's outstanding comeback, propelled the Giants into undisputed possession of the National league lead with a first inning home run at Boston that scored two ahead of him. The Giants won by 4 to 2. Hal Schumacher, who barely missed a no-hitter his last time out, limited the Bees to five hits.

Ducky Medwick drove across two runs with a triple to help give the Pittsburgh Pirates their second setback, 5 to 3.

PIRATES DROP TO SECOND

That dropped the Pirates into second notch, and the Chicago Cubs took over third place by blasting the Cincinnati Reds, 12 to 5, as Bill Lee held the Reds helpless until the ninth.

Although outlit, Brooklyn was able to bounce its blows and shove the Phillies a little deeper into the cellar, 6 to 3.

Buddy Lewis drove in six runs with a homer and two singles as the Washington Nationals won their fourth straight from the Athletics, 7 to 2. Home run by Ken Keltner, Lyn Lary and Geoffrey Heath helped Cleveland beat the St. Louis Browns, 11 to 6, in a free-hitting game.

Detroit was leading the Chicago White Sox, 2 to 0, when rain caused their game to be postponed in the fourth.

CUBS SHADE ELKS, 4-3

In typical Frank Merriwell manner, Orange's Cubs of the National Nightball league polished off Darwin Scott's Santa Ana All-Star Elks, 4 to 3, by scoring two runs in the last half of the ninth at Orange's city park last night. "Whitey" Pee, veteran catcher, ignited the rally with a single and Lefty Levens beat out a bunt. Roger Larimer bunted. Merle Hapes fielded it but threw to first which was left uncovered and scored. Richard was walked purposely, Ted Walker poking a single to center for the payoff.

HOME RUN LEADERS

National League—Vaughan, Pittsburgh; Klein, Philadelphia and Ott, McCarthy, Rippe and Leiber, New York, 3 each.

Seven J.C. Track Teams Clash; Medwick Blasts 'Dizzy' Dean

'HE STARTED FIGHTS WE FINISHED'

St. Louis Star Says Man-Sized Boy Too Much for Ex-Mate

PITTSBURGH, (AP)—Quick-fisted Joe Medwick, reputedly the one man on the Cardinals whom Dizzy Dean feared, charged today that his erstwhile teammate started fights that the rest of the Gas House Gang had to finish.

Medwick's blast was provoked by Dizzy's recently published version of the row with two sports writers, Irving Kupicent and Jack Miley, at Tampa, Fla., a year ago. Dizzy said he wasn't in the fight at all.

"He's right in one respect," Medwick wrote to Chicago newspapers. "He wasn't in the fight after fights started to fly. He usually does a crawfish act about that time. He starts a fight and then somebody else has to protect him."

The Cardinal outfielder declared that the same thing happened in a row with the New York Giants in St. Louis last May 19.

"He tried to beat somebody," Medwick said, "and when the Giants rushed him, he ran and let us fight his battle."

"Any man-sized boy is too much for Dizzy," Joe continued. "You notice any time he throws a bean ball it's at some little fellow. If he even gets into trouble with the Cubs, watch him hide behind Gabby Hartnett."

"DIZ" DEAN ANSWERS
CHICAGO, (AP)—The genial, the reformer Dizzy Dean, who all spring has been trying to keep his mouth shut, has gone loquacious again—virtually forced to go.

And even if Joe Medwick, his former St. Louis Cardinal teammate, calls him the kind to "crawl" out of a fight and leave the battle to his mates, Dizzy wasn't pulling any verbal punches today.

"That Medwick is dumb . . . saying when I dust off anybody, it's always a little guy . . . that I run from a fight. Say if that Guy would show any sort of hustle at all, the Cards would have a helluva lot better ball club than they got now."

NEW YORK, (AP)—Barney Ross just thinks about the size of the gate for the Armstrong fight and doesn't care if he has to train all night every night for it. . . . He's making about $12,000 a year in business with his father-in-law, but tells pals, "I'd be a sap to pass up 35 or 40 grand each for fighting Armstrong and Lou Ambers."

What's this about Burt Shotton slated for Frankie Frisch's job by next year? . . . Sounds like the old Elton-see, but those rumors do get around. . . . Dixie Howell, the old Alabamian, will quit pro football to coach Arizona State college. . . . He's shortstopping with the Tulsa Oilers this summer.

Baseball life of the week (credit Baseball Alert): Three days in the life of Rolfe Hemsey—1, catches Feller; 2, catches train; 3, catches hell . . . catches plane.

Jack Blackburn keeps telling Joe Louis, "Lissen, Chappie, when you get knocked down, take a nine count, 'cause you never can get up so fast that folks won't know you were on the floor."

Journal Choice in Kentucky Derby

FISKE PICKS REDBREAST

By FRANK FISKE

Some of us who like to reach deep into the hat for our Derby selections pulled out the name of Redbreast a few months ago and spent the long winter evenings thinking up reasons why he should come up winner of the Kentucky classic.

The gentlemen who lay future books prices were almost eager in reaching for our sentimental dollars at that time and this morning they seem to be thoroughly justified. You could probably write your own ticket on the Greentree colt today.

Redbreast's showing in yesterday's Keeneland feature was certainly nothing to inspire confidence. He finished eight lengths back of Menow, which was barely beaten by Bull Lea in a driving finish. Bull Lea, incidentally, trimmed a shaving off the track record, running the mile-and-a-furlong in 1:49 3-5. Which brings him up into the brilliantly lighted circle of favoritism with Staghand and Fighting Fox.

Nevertheless, there still are a few days to go before the Derby, May 7. A mile-and-a-furlong is just one-eighth shorter than a mile-and-a-quarter and Redbreast now has a race under his belt.

Don '440' Star

WALTER OPP

FULLERTON'S DUAL CHAMPS ARE FAVORED

Leading seven junior colleges in an assault on track and field records, Fullerton and Riverside are expected to monopolize honors in the seventh inning running of the all-Eastern conference meet in Riverside tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Sixteen Don trackmen, headed by Capt. Bias Mercurio, Walter Opp, Bill Huntalas and Erwin Yonel, will be Santa Ana's potential point winners. The Don cin-dermen should get place with approximately 43½ points.

San Bernardino, Chaffey, Citrus and Pomona will cut into the point column but not enough to overhaul the favorites, it is believed.

Guarding against upset, Fullerton probably will monopolize the meet with eight first-place winners in the 880, mile, two-mile, high and low hurdles, discus throw, broad jump and pole vault. With their all-around strength, the Hornets may hang up 76 points.

Doped for 30 points from the 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes alone, Riverside will be Fullerton's only serious competitor with close to 59 points. Bryant Allen is conceded tops in the century and furlong and Clyde Jeffrey is counted best in the quarter-mile and second or first in the furlong.

SECRET AGENTS PROBE 'THREAT' TO ROOSEVELT

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Secret service agents are investigating possible new evidence in the case of Keith H. Rapp, 35, of Bakersfield, Calif., former inmate of the state insane hospital at Norwalk, now held at Memphis, Tenn., on charges of mailing a threatening letter to President Roosevelt.

The possible new evidence came from Superior Judge A. A. Scott. He turned over to secret service men an unsigned letter postmarked at Bakersfield, April 8, abusing but not threatening him.

This letter, however, like the one received at the White House, postmarked from Bakersfield three days earlier, told of an "overwhelming desire to kill President Roosevelt" when the President visited here several years ago.

Rapp, a window trimmer and salesman, formerly lived here.

'KID' COOGAN NO MILLIONAIRE

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Jackie Coogan has dropped out of the millionaire class.

Of the $4,000,000 "The Kid" claims to have earned as a film star, only $545,924 now remains. And $17,196 of that represents sums advanced for his clothing and expenses by the Jackie Coogan Productions, Inc.

It was a blow to 23-year-old Jackie, this deflationary inventory filed by a court-appointed receiver in his multi-million dollar accounting suit against his mother and stepfather, Lillian and Arthur L. Bernstein.

"My mother must not be blamed for this condition of affairs," was the youth's first comment.

"I have not yet had an opportunity to examine the report fully, but it shows that virtually all of my earnings excepting those invested in real estate have been dissipated."

Additional funds have been allocated for white fly control in the Sacramento valley and Los Angeles county.

FREEZE CAUSES MUCH DAMAGE

WASHINGTON. (AP) — The weather bureau reported that freezing temperatures last week caused considerable damage to the young cotton crop in the southern coastal plains district of Texas and in Louisiana.

It also said that recent heavy rains in Mississippi and Arkansas had caused heavy erosion damage to fields prepared for cotton planting.

Damage to fruit crops by the freezing weather, the bureau said, does not appear either as severe or extensive as at first feared. Losses were confined generally, it said, to early peaches, cherries, plums and grapes in central states, parts of Texas and locally in the Appalachian mountain region.

STORM BLAMED FOR AIR CRASH

VISALIA. (AP)—Investigators said that a storm in the High Sierra caused the crash of a privately owned airplane, killing its four occupants last Monday.

The wreckage and the bodies were found yesterday on a snow covered slope of 8100-foot Sunday peak, 40 miles southeast of Visalia.

The victims, all residents of Visalia, were Dr. and Mrs. O. N. Lambert; Mrs. Frank Blain, mother of Mrs. Lambert, and Miss Dorothy Davis, Dr. Lambert's office nurse.

Found OutAbout
Watches,
Clocks—By—
MILLARD
BROWNE

Time ticks on in Santa Ana. The city's assorted watches and clocks (about 50,000 of each, jewelers figure) do enough ticking every hour, in fact, to last 10 years.

And whether it's a grandfather clock or a dainty 23-jewel wrist-watch, it works on about the same principle—a mathematical arrangement of gears, with some sort of wheel letting one of the gears "escape," notch by notch, at a certain speed. In the big hall clock, the escape wheel is governed by a pendulum; in a wrist-watch it's done with an eccentric balance and hairspring.

Lone exception to the elementary principle of a timepiece: Electric clocks, which are simply-gear motors timed to revolve at a certain speed. Motors are geared either to 50-cycle current (like Santa Ana's) and to 60-cycle (used in San Diego, Los Angeles and some other places), must be exchanged if used in the wrong place.

First "grandfather clock" was made by a monk in the Middle Ages. He noticed a chandelier swinging in exact rhythm with his pulse. The chandelier was 39 inches long; and that became standard length for a clock pendulum, legend has it.

Power to keep the pendulum of a timepiece going invariably is furnished by a mainspring. That's the part you actually wind when you put your clock to bed each night, and it's a good idea to wind it at the same time each day, because that maintains a uniform, proper tension on the spring.

Average wrist-watch has around 270 parts, but some clockworks can get by with a dozen or so. One early American model, for instance, has only a case, four wheels, pendulum, weight, hands and a few screws. In the average balance wheel alone are 16 screws, brass and steel rims, roller, table, jewels, collet and collet pin, stud and studpin. Screws are so small that 70,000 of them have been put in a thimble, and smallest ones run 212 threads to the inch.

To the layman, watchworks look like a jumbled mass of wheels, springs and gears, but they aren't really that complicated. Ordinary watch has six wheels—an escape wheel on which the "pallet" does the ticking; one each to hold the second, minute and hour hands; one to gear the second and minute wheels, make the hands turn in the same direction; another to do the same with the minute and hour wheels.

Gearing on wrist-watches usually includes an escape wheel of 15 teeth meshed into the second hand, which carries 75 teeth, thus gives five ticks to the second (which figures 18,000 an hour).

What makes a watch tick? No need to tear one apart to find out, because unless you were a watchmaker, chances are you wouldn't know even then. Anyway, here's what causes it: Two jewels in the pallet each receive a blow 9000 times an hour from teeth of the brass or steel balance wheel.

There's no practical way to eliminate the tick, either, because something has to take the blow of the balance wheel teeth in order to stop them at periodical intervals.

Jewels are used to take the blow because they're harder, won't wear out. Jewels aren't just something the buyer pays for, then brags about, even in a 23-jewel watch, every one of the gems (usually sapphires or garnets, sometimes diamond chips) has its function, usual one (except for the two in a pallet) being to eliminate friction by acting as a sort of bushing for the bearings that keep moving parts going smoothly.

Most accurate timepiece is a clock with a big pendulum. Testing for accuracy takes as long as 10 days with ordinary equipment, though a new gadget's been invented that will give a watch a 24-hour rating in one minute. Adjustment can be accurate well within five seconds for a week, must be that close for railroad men's watches.

Place in a watch where a speck of dust could do the most harm is in one of the main gear teeth. Dust wouldn't have to be much more than microscopic to stop a watch entirely by getting firmly lodged in a gear.

COLLISION RATE
INSURANCE UP
25 PER CENT

An unexplained jump of nearly 25 per cent in the collision insurance rate for Orange county and other nearby motorists today had sent local insurance agents scurrying for papers and pencils to figure out what they hoped was "all a mistake."

Collision insurance has jumped noticeably all over the country, it was understood, but it was set at a particularly high figure for Orange county and all other "rural areas" of Southern California, presumably on the theory that driving is faster and accidents more likely to be serious on an open road.

Santa Ana insurance agents were particularly surprised to note that rates for the outside areas had been jumped ahead of those for the suburban group, which heretofore had been next to the metropolitan area of Los Angeles in its insurance rate.

Collision insurance rates all are drafted by a rating bureau in New York, and they are based uniformly on factory prices of cars. The discrepancy under the new rating, agents here pointed out, would look like this for cars in the $900-$1000 group:

Old rate for Orange county motorists, $86; new rate, $106, compared with a rate of $92 for such suburban areas as Long Beach, and a $119 rate for Los Angeles.

Chief complaint of Santa Ana insurance men is that many of the accidents caused by "fast driving on the open road" involve Los Angeles or suburban drivers, while Orange county persons are penalized.

The rate increase does not affect liability and property damage insurance, it was pointed out. Orange county drivers, in fact, actually benefited by a readjustment in these fields.

The general increase in collision insurance rates has been caused by increased labor costs, and by the fact that "fancier" embellishments on autos have made them more expensive to repair.

GUSTLIN QUILTS
ARTISTS SERIES
CHAIRMANSHIP

Resignation of Clarence Gustlin, local musical leader, from the chairmanship of Orange county's annual Artists' Concert series, which he has managed for the past two years, was announced yesterday at a luncheon meeting of the 1938-39 concert committee of Musical Arts club. Gustlin gave as his reason for withdrawal from managing the series, a Behmer-Wilson project, the fact that he expects to spend the entire summer abroad. No successor has as yet been named.

To arouse interest in next year's ticket sale, the Musical Arts club today announced it would hold an informal musicale Wednesday evening at the Y. W. C. A. at which time members and friends will hear an impromptu concert. Honored guest will be Mrs. Babcock Burns, musician and critic of Los Angeles, who will bring a number of guest artists with her.

Good health, free from tuberculosis, is an individual matter, according to Dr. K. H. Sutherland, Orange county health officer, who today wholeheartedly urged support of the early diagnosis campaign as an effective means of fighting consumption.

Citizens must be alert to the danger of tuberculosis throughout

THE BIBLE—Its Simple Treasures

(Paraphrased to Include Modern Thought and Action)
(A Verse a Day May Keep Sin Away)

PSALMS
(Fifth Verse)
(Chapter 1)

Therefore the ungodly shall not stand in the judgment, nor sinners in the congregation of the righteous.

Modern Version

You're going to miss the greatest spectacle ever staged if you haven't "reserved" your seat by the time the Millennium yells, in the manner of the Hollywood director, "Lights!" It may be you're not interested in great drama. If so you'll not miss a thing because you will, in all probability, hit the mark you have aimed at. That "congregation of the righteous" will make an Easter Sunrise service in Hollywood bowl look like amateur night at your neighborhood theater. There is no facetiousness meant here. What is meant is this—because there are some who are so intensely selfish that they refuse even to give another one little thought which, oftentimes, is all that is asked—one little thought pointed in the right direction. Luther, founder of the Lutheran doctrine, said, "The fewer words the better prayer." Quality and not quantity. It costs so little yet there are so many who refuse to pay the smallest tax in the Universe to get a front seat at the greatest show here or hereafter.

WHAT'S WHAT ABOUT TRAFFIC

By H. C. MEEHAN
Captain, Orange County Unit, California Highway Patrol

As traffic officers, we continually come in contact with operators of motor vehicles who do not have a license to operate. Many minors are driving, with the full knowledge and consent of their parents, but without any license.

Today's column, consequently, will be devoted to rules and regulations governing operators' licenses. When they can be obtained and actual violations of the vehicle code with respect to them.

The law governing unlicensed minors (section 333) is very specific and easily understood: "Permitting unlicensed minor to drive: No person shall cause or knowingly permit his child, ward or employee under the age of 21 years to operate a motor vehicle . . . unless such child, ward or employee is then duly licensed hereunder so to drive."

Parents questioned regarding their unlicensed minors' driving invariably will give the excuse, "We understood that our children could learn to drive while accompanied by a licensed operator." This, however, is not the case.

There is provision in the law that allows a minor to obtain an "instruction permit" and this must be obtained before the child can legally operate an automobile on a public highway. Section 253 of the vehicle code makes this clear:

"Any person over the age of 14 years may apply to the department for an instruction permit. The department, for good cause, may issue to the applicant an instruction permit which shall entitle the applicant . . . to drive a motor vehicle upon the highways for a period not exceeding 90 days, when accompanied by, and under the immediate supervision of, a licensed operator or chauffeur."

And another frequently misunderstood provision is section 257.

regarding restricted licenses.

It provides, "No operator's license shall be issued to any person under the age of 16 years except that an operator's license may be issued to a person 14 years of age but less than 16 . . . when an application is accompanied by a statement of reasons satisfactory to the department . . ."

The section provides for issuance of a restricted license to minors under 16 years of age when any emergency—sickness, necessity for running errands, driving to and from school, carrying paper routes, etc.—exists in the family that requires the child's assistance.

A friendly tip: Be sure your child has an operator's license before allowing him to drive.

Here's an incident which has to do with a restricted license. Traffic officer stopped a youth who had been speeding on the Coast highway near Laguna just before sundown.

Officer: "Son, you have been driving too fast; how come?"

Youth: "Well, Mr. Officer, I have a restricted license that says I must confine my driving to daylight hours; I am hurrying to get home before dark."

Maternal Deaths
Drop to New Low

The national maternal mortality rate dropped to an all-time low in 1936 when there were 5.7 maternal deaths per 1000 live births, according to Census bureau records.

S. A. WATCHES
PROPOSED
TRAFFIC CODE

The Santa Ana traffic safety committee is following with interest the recommendations of the state assembly interim committee in Los Angeles which is proposing changes in the motor vehicles law.

The assembly group would abolish the distinction between 20- and 25-mile speed limit zones and make a standard 25-mile zone in all business sections.

Other recommendations are: That vehicles be permitted to overtake and pass other vehicles on the right in four-lane highways outside of cities, instead of only on wide city streets, as at present.

Costa Mesans are looking for some very black and very ambitious crows.

They're to be used in the scarecrow contest.

Plans are to release the birds and then see which scarecrow they stay farthest away from.

I suppose if one of the black critters screams and falls into a faint, that'll call for award of the grand sweepstakes prize, huh?

Conversation with B. K. Maxwell, Rullerton scribbler. BK was telling a story about Henry Imm, a story that'll make all ocean fishermen squirm.

I know for a fact that Henry's one of the best bass fishermen in this part of the country. Every year he goes into San Diego county and brings back more fish, almost, than he can carry.

Well, this year Henry started getting ready for the season's opening away ahead of time. He slicked up his poles, oiled his reels and cleaned out his tackle box. When he was through, there still was more'n a month to wait. So Henry went ocean fishing.

He came home from the deep-sea trip very much downcast. Things were terrible, and he wasn't going ocean fishing again. All he caught was a yellowtail!

To the uninitiated, I might explain that in these waters a yellowtail is the aim of nearly all anglers, and one of the best fighters for his size in the ocean!

Prediction: Harry Arthur of Anaheim is going to make one of the best presidents the Associated Chambers of Commerce has had in a number of years.

Harry has that something one needs to run the associated, and I don't mean what you're thinking, either. He's blessed with lots of vigor and likes to meet people and has many ambitious plans for the organization. Hope he enjoys his job!

Speaking of vigor brings to mind the new Los Alamitos chamber of commerce.

That organization was founded in January, and already members have touched a soft spot in the heart, if any, of the county-wide group. They're fired with ambition and ready to start working on anything worthwhile. More people from there attend meetings than from any other city, including Santa Ana.

Lloyd Lindsey, their president, claims they're working now with the view of having a weedless community. They're plowing up

Grove Relief Workers Meet

GARDEN GROVE.—Initiation of three candidates, Mrs. Belle Long, Mrs. Ella Linden and Mrs. Jennie Porter, featured a meeting of the W. E. Case Woman's Relief corps, in the legion hall Tuesday evening. A day of sewing with pot-luck supper was announced for May 5 in the home of Mrs. Mognon Waters. Serving refreshments were Mesdames Myrtle Christensen, Ethel Echols and Betty Baldwin.

all the vacant lots and eventually hope to present a nice, clean face to visitors.

Placentia also is having a facelifting operation. The business district is being widened so that trucks'll have elbow room. All stores in the west two blocks of town are shoved back several feet and soon they'll have a real boulevard running right through town. Which probably will give Police Chief Gus Barnes more work to do—chasing speeders!

Thinking of Placentia brings to mind Doc Mattner, the new C. of C. secretary, and Frank Rospaw, his boss.

I was standing on a street corner the other night, talking to Doc and Frank, when Claude Lindsay's Santa Fe streamliner went by, making noises like a sick porpoise on a dark night.

Doc and Frank broke up the conversation with a mad rush to their cars, with the intention of getting to Fullerton in time to see the train go by!

I've been wondering if an Eskimo with the hiccups would have anything to do with an arctic choke, or do you like vegetables? I guess we'd better not pursue that subject any further, huh?

Which, for some reason or other, reminds me of a very happy circumstance.

Phillip the Phrog, after a long absence, has returned to the Gaines' mansion in Costa Mesa.

You might remember that Phillip was a flood refugee. He was picked up on the beach filled with sand and gloom and ready to apply for a one-way ticket to frog heaven. However, we swabbed out Phillip's nose and gave him some fresh water, and for a time he thrived.

And then he up and disappeared. Since that time, about a month ago, we've been searching for the refugee. However, his bull-like bellows were absent at night, and we finally figured he'd been converted into a nice meal for some large family, or had joined the Foreign Legion or something.

However, he greeted us with a cheery roar last night. He looked rather tired and worn, as if he was just back from a long journey, but I still don't believe his story about spending a week or so in the courthouse!

In the first of the preliminary contests held last week in connection with a Toastmasters club meeting at Anaheim, young Harper was awarded first place over speakers from Anaheim and Laguna Beach and given the right to compete in a contest with speakers from Orange, Santa Ana and Long Beach at the Toastmasters club meeting in Orange Friday evening, where he won the right to represent the district.

The round-up is scheduled to start with the speaking contest at 9:30 o'clock after which the club members, all from the seventh and eighth grades, will be entertained with motion pictures, a barbecue dinner, followed by an athletic program and exhibition polo game. The Public Approves of Voluntary Group Stores. Today there are almost three times as many such stores as there are corporate chain stores. (See Voluntary & Co-Operative Groups Magazine for May, 1937.)

Housewives patronize our stores because they are best from the standpoint of GOOD VALUES plus GOOD SERVICE. The money we make stays at home—the merchandise we buy is supplied by a locally owned wholesale institution giving employment to many Orange county families. We merit your patronage. See to it that your food purchases are made at a Red & White Food Store.

"GATHER THE ROSE AND LEAVE THE THORN BEHIND"

All the thorns of life cannot be avoided, but it is entirely unnecessary for anyone to suffer the sharp disappointment that coffee of unsatisfying quality invariably brings to the taste. This was the belief of Hills Bros. when they began in the coffee business 60 years ago. So they eliminated this "thorn" in coffee drinking by gathering in, year after year, only the finest coffees for their blend. The fragrance of a cup of freshly-made Hills Bros. Coffee announces this excellence. The flavor is proof that "the thorn has been left behind."

Love in Disguise

by MARY KEAS

Peggy O'Toole, whose parents died after migrating from Dublin to New York, has grown up in humble circumstances. Her mother, Marguerite Greer, had married her father, Larry O'Toole, against the wishes of her wealthy parents, had become estranged from them, and had never seen them again. Peggy believes that her grandparents are still alive but, feeling bitter toward them, has no wish ever to see them. She has recently taken a position as a governess. She meets a young taxi-driver, Jimmie Butler, who makes love to her and wins her love in return. But when she broaches the subject of marriage, he becomes evasive and says he thinks they are too young to be "tied down" just yet. Shortly after this, another beau, Joe Cassidy, a policeman, takes her to a dance. Jimmie appears, acts jealous and, when the dance is over, tells Peggy he is taking her home.

CHAPTER XIII
"But Jimmie!" Peggy protested. "Where's Joe?"
"Don't worry about Cassidy," Jimmie told her. "I fixed things with him."
He took her firmly by the arm and propelled her toward the door.

"Wait!" she said, trying to stop. "I want to know where Joe is!"
"Never mind—it's all right," Jimmie practically dragged her outside and shoved her into a taxi. As he climbed in beside her, she drew over into her corner. She was not sure she liked these cave-man tactics!

There was silence as the cab got under way. Peggy kept her face averted, staring out the window. Finally, "Well—why don't you say something?" she snapped.
Jimmie's arm slipped about her and he drew her close. She stiffened.
"Honey," he said softly. "Don't be angry with me. I had to take you home—had to talk to you. So while Joe was waiting for you, I got one of the attendants to call him to the phone and detain him, one way or another, until I had time to get you out." He paused anxiously. "You're not angry, are you? I mean, I had to have this chance to tell you how miserable I've been, and to ask you to forgive me. I—I—love you so much. . . . He kissed the top of her hair.

PEGGY felt herself succumbing to his endearments. She tried to steel herself against them—tried to remember how cruelly he had treated her the last time she had seen him—but in her heart, she knew she was glad he had got rid of Joe and carried her off like this. She relaxed a bit in his arms.
"But Jimmie," she said reproachfully, "what—what about what you said on—on your birthday?"
He groaned. "Darling, won't you let me forget that? I've told you I was a fool! I must have been out of my head. Here! See what I've brought you. . . . He felt in his pockets. "This will prove it to you."
He drew forth a little jeweler's box, and opened it to reveal a solitaire.

"Jimmie!" Peggy was stunned. He took her hand and slipped the ring onto her finger. She gazed at it rapturously for a moment, then buried her face on his shoulder. "Oh, darling," she sobbed, his arms held her close and his lips found hers.
After a while, he released her. She held up her hand, admiring the ring.
"It's beautiful, Jimmie!"
"Yeah—if you look close enough you can almost see it's a diamond," he joked. "I hope you like the setting. It's kind of old-fashioned now, but it was my mother's. . . . She left it to me."
Tears were in Peggy's eyes. Jimmie hugged her. "Now remember—you're my girl now. No more Sweethearts! Waltzes with other fellows! And no more flirting. . . ."
"No, Jimmie dear—!" she whispered, nestling against him.

THE next day, Peggy was with Janice in the playroom of the Meredith home, when a maid appeared.

"Miss O'Toole, a gentleman to see you," she announced. Peggy looked up in surprise. "To see me! Who is he, Mary?"
"This card says he's a Mr. Clayton, ma'am—a lawyer."

"Oh—" Peggy took the bit of cardboard, and gazed down at it. "He's waiting in the library miss," the maid told her. Peggy hesitated, frowning, then slowly rose.

"Very well—I'll see him," Mr. Clayton proved to be a dignified, middle-aged man. As Peggy entered the library, he rose.

"Miss O'Toole? I've tried, once or twice before, to see you. . . . I know," Peggy said levelly. "I suppose I was rude not to answer your letters, but I did not wish to see you. However. . . . She shrugged.

He cleared his throat. "I have been puzzled by your attitude but—no matter! Now that I have at last succeeded in reaching you, I shall go straight to the point. Miss O'Toole, you are the daughter, are you not, of the late Captain Lawrence O'Toole? And your mother before her marriage, was Miss Marguerite Greer?"
Peggy nodded.

The lawyer's manner became more pompous. "Miss O'Toole, I represent your grandparents—your maternal grandparents. I should say, they have sent me. . . . I have no grandparents," Peggy cut in.
Mr. Clayton stared at her. "That is absurd!" he protested. "Aburd!" Peggy repeated. "You really think so? My grandparents disowned my mother when she married my father—I therefore disown my grandparents!"

The lawyer coughed. "But you can't do that, Miss O'Toole! After all, they are your only living relatives. They are now residing in this country. They commissioned me to find you and—"
"Is that all you have to say for Mr. Clayton?" Peggy interrupted. "If so, you are wasting your time. I do not wish to see them."
He was silent a moment, then said, "You do not seem to realize what you are rejecting. You are, I understand, a paid governess in this house. You could be the mistress of a house as big as this one."

"And be stifled as my mother was?" Peggy flung at him. "If being the mistress of a big house means that, I prefer to remain a governess!" She paused. "Why—now after all these years, should they worry about me? You are, I understand, a paid governess in this house. You could be the mistress of a house as big as this one."

"I'm sorry, Mr. Clayton, but I can't bring myself to the point of forgiving them. And now, if you will excuse me. . . . Peggy held out her hand.
He sighed. "Very well—but I'm sorry you feel this way about it." He took her hand. "You have my address, on my card. If you should change your mind, get in touch with me. I'm hoping that, after further consideration, you will at least consent to a meeting with your grandparents. In any case, if you ever want my assistance in any way, please don't hesitate to call upon me."
"Thank you," Peggy said sincerely. "And I'm sorry you have wasted your time. Goodbye, Mr. Clayton."

TELEVISION IMPROVED BY NEW DEVICE

(Copyright, 1938, by Science Service)
PHILADELPHIA. — A keener "eye" for television cameras in the form of an extremely ingenious vacuum tube has been devised by Philo T. Farnsworth, active in television research here.

The new tube's great sensitivity to light will facilitate out-of-doors television for such events as parades or athletic contests and it will also permit more normal illumination in studios, largely obviating the glaring lights now used.

The invention promises to bring to television a device comparable with the "high-speed" cameras of photography. Moreover, the new television camera permits what might be called "long exposures" on dark days.

The "heart" of the new Farnsworth tube is known as the image grid. This is a piece of metal foil perforated by a series of holes the extent of 140,000 to the square inch. On one side of this special metal foil, with its almost numberless perforations, is placed an insulating material, and upon the insulating material equally numberless little islands of photoelectric sensitive material.

The image grid is placed in a suitably shaped vacuum tube, with its photoelectric sensitive side towards the window. In the neck of this tube is an electron gun.

The optical image is focused, by means of lens, upon the photoelectric sensitive side of the image grid. Each island emits electrons proportional to the amount of light falling on it, and in so doing the island becomes positively charged. The electron gun, in scanning, moves its beam over the back of the image grid in an ordered manner, spraying electrons upon the back of the image grid. The beam of the electron gun is deflected in scanning in the usual manner.

Consider a single island with its positive charge due to the light falling on it. As the beam of the electron gun falls on the back of this particular island, the positive charge draws great numbers of electrons through the small holes surrounding that island, and the increased number drawn through the holes is always proportional to the charge, and, hence, the light falling on that island. Thus the charge on the island acts like a valve, permitting an increased flow of electrons from the back.

In front of the image grid, in the tube, is placed a coarse meshed screen, known as the signal screen. Through a suitable potential, the electrons which passed through the holes are drawn over to the signal screen, where they go to make up the signal current. Not only does the charge on the island act as a valve, as it were, to permit the passage of electrons through the holes from the rear, but enough electrons are also permitted to pass through to neutralize the charge and make the island ready for the next scanning.

Those familiar with radio will recognize here the principle of the triode tube, since the image grid island acts as the control grid, the back of the image grid as the cathode, and the signal screen as the anode.

The discharge of the island itself may be likened to the grid leak in the triode tube, and since this grid leak can be controlled in the Farnsworth tube, another interesting and valuable phenomenon is encountered.

It must be remembered that in television the complete picture is scanned, or gone over, thirty times a second. Actually in modern interlaced scanning sixty half pictures are scanned per second. This means that the time for scanning of each island is of the magnitude of a millionth of a second.

Using the "grid leak" of the tiny triodes in the television tube it is possible to regulate the charges built up on the little photoelectric islands from one scanning to the next, so that an optimum amount of light is always used.

This is equivalent to increasing the exposure time in a photographic camera on a dark day, or under other poor light conditions. In the television tube, of course, some sharpness is sacrificed when long exposures are obtained. But, in contrast, the method permits televising scenes in light so poor that even high speed photographic cameras cannot function.

What the new television camera does is to permit exposures up to one-sixteenth of a second, if necessary, instead of the millionth of a second obtained in previous television devices.

Methodist Church Union Proposed

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—If the proposed union of the Methodist Episcopal, the Methodist Protestant and the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, finally is ratified, the new church will be known as "the Methodist church."

The church will be divided into six "jurisdictions," each containing several annual conferences. Five are arranged geographically, with the sixth set apart for negroes.

Membership in the three present denominations is estimated at 8,000,000, of which almost 3,000,000 are in the south. Negro members number about 360,000.

While complete details have not been approved, the church government would confirm, in general lines, to the present government of the two Episcopal bodies.

Walker's To Have Children's Matinee

The Edith Fellows club under the direction of Al Romaine tomorrow will present again a special children's matinee at Walker's theater. Children of the club will take part. Registration in the lobby is necessary.

Tri-State Picnic Date Announced

Former residents of Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas are invited to attend a tri-state picnic at Sycamore Grove park all day Saturday, May 7.

Each state will have a separate section of the park and will open county registration. Presidents Edward Lawless, Avery M. Blount and M. W. Wilson will speak.

Britain-Denmark In New Trade Pact

LONDON, (AP)—Conclusion of a new trade agreement between Britain and Denmark has been announced in the House of Commons.

R. S. Hudson, secretary of the overseas trade department, said Denmark would increase its imports of British goods by about $4,740,000 annually.

JAILED FOR ASSAULT

News About El Toro Folks

By MRS. CARRIE G. DREWS

What a memorable but most "chattering" time those sportsmen of Tustin high (including some of our El Toro boys) must have had last Thursday and Friday when they were initiated into the "Let-ter-men's club."

For Thursday they had to go to school without shoes, wearing a lady's hat, bandanna and bloomers, with stockings rolled to below the knees, and carrying a lady's handbag and a bottle of perfume.

Friday they all wore long woolen or red flannel underwear, the drawers cut off or rolled to above the knees; high-heeled shoes, no less than five curlers in their hair, and carrying compacts in their hands.

Last but not least, paddles played a prominent part all through the two days! Then to top it all off in grand style, a banquet was held Friday evening in their honor, the lettermen still in costume and doing most of the work. Can they ever forget it?

In speaking of the "moving mountain" on the Moulton ranch, just above the overhead bridge on Highway 101 at Gallivan, L. F. Moulton said he remembered that spring well, but in those days of the 1880's, no one thought anything about covering up a spring, as the railroad men did that one, for then, the country was just full of them.

And speaking about clubs, the El Toro Woman's club will meet with Mrs. H. Bennett and Mrs. George Fox in the hall Wednesday, May 4 at 2 p. m., when they will work on the quilt.

The El Toro school boys played a ball game here with Irvine Friday, April 22, and Irvine won by the score of 13-2.

Just after spending the Easter vacation at home with her parents and returning to college, Louise Moulton made a quick return trip from San Francisco by airplane and was operated on for appendicitis. She is still in Saint Joseph hospital, but doing nicely.

Donald Gould returned from the Santa Ana Valley hospital Sunday, after an operation also for appendicitis. We are all glad the little fellow is home again.

A. C. Carle's throat was operated on Monday and the last report we heard was that he was resting well.

Clem Fox left Wednesday for Modesto to care for his mother, who is confined to her bed from a fall. They hope for an early recovery.

Coming from Yuma, Ariz., Mr. and Mrs. Claire A. Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Albright visited Claire's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Scott a few days, then left for the north on a business trip, early Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. House and sons motored to Modesto Saturday, where they spent the afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bricke.

Mary Pierce drove over from Arcadia Thursday to call on some of her old friends; her brother, Franklin, being at the music conservatory, and her father, Frank O. Pierce, being away some where on his honeymoon. She seemed very happy when speaking of her new step-mother and her three sons.

Mary herself, attends a dancing school.

Frank Fox left Wednesday evening for the East Coast of Australia, where a good job in the oil fields is awaiting him. His wife and daughter Gwen will follow this summer. Gwen attended our El Toro school a few years ago.

Have you gone by that little old "house by the side of the road" in the east part of our little village, lately? If you haven't, you should. For, as one lady exclaimed last Wednesday, on seeing it. "Oh, what a lovely spot; 'tis truly a Garden of Paradise!" And that "spot" is known as the Woodhouse ranch home, where Frank Klapetzky is generally seen working among their beautiful plants and flowers, when he is not making the beds or cooking up some of his splendid meals.

El Toro felt a strong earthquake at 10:45 p. m., Wednesday, April 27.

Card Club Meets In Midway Home

MIDWAY CITY.—Mrs. Byron Tayes was hostess recently to members of the Neighborhood Bridge club in her home on Van Buren street. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Pearl Arnett, Mrs. E. O. Pritchard and Mrs. George Luff.

Others attending were Mrs. Farnsworth, Mrs. James Dale, Grout, Mrs. Henry Meier and Mrs. Mrs. Chester Campbell, Mrs. Dale Braybrooks, Mrs. R. R. Sues, Mrs. Robert Lowry, Mrs. Russell I. Johnson and Mrs. Bert Heath.

4 Generations At Family Fete

BOULEVARD GARDENS.—Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Baker were hosts at a family dinner party recently which included four generations. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Baker and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Sheldon, Donald Sheldon, Benner; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Baker, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Timmerman, Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Baker and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Baker, Costa Mesa.

SWEET CORN OUTLOOK

A few good stands of early Alameda sweet corn are reported. With abundant moisture in the soil, good yields and quality of sweet corn on our early irrigated lands should be obtained.

FLEET RETURNS TO L. A. HARBOR

SAN PEDRO, (AP)—Fifty-eight thousand officers and men of the United States fleet returned to the Los Angeles and San Diego bases after participation in the six weeks' war games in the Hawaiian areas.

The hospital ship relief preceded the fleet into San Pedro last night, to be followed early today by the base force flagship Argonne. Combat vessels returning this afternoon include the 12 battleships, 14 heavy cruisers and the aircraft carriers Saratoga and Lexington. Altogether, 140 surface vessels and 500 aircraft will be back at the bases.

Divided into two opposing forces, the fleet completed the twelfth and final phase of fleet problem 19 last night. This climatic phase saw the green fleet, commanded by Vice-Admiral William T. Tarrant, defending California's vital strategic centers against the invading purple fleet under command of Admiral Edward C. Kalbfus.

The two main agricultural products in Babylonia were barley and dates, but farmers also raised onions, garlic, peas, beets, and greens.

BLIND MAN'S BLUFF...

Second in command of the British fleet at the battle of Copenhagen, April 1, 1801, was England's great naval hero, Vice-Admiral Horatio Nelson, blind in one eye and with only one arm.

Nelson's superior officer, Sir Hyde Parker, fearing Nelson's ship, the Elephant, was unable to withstand the withering fire it was undergoing during the battle, ordered a signal to retire hoisted on a halyard.

Aboard Nelson's ship observers called his attention to the signal. Nelson, feeling he was capable of turning in a winning battle, had no intentions of retreating.

However, to dispose officially of the incident, he raised his telescope to his blind eye and scanned the horizon in the direction of his commander's ship, then lowered it, announcing that he could see no signal!

The battle continued and Nelson brilliantly completed the campaign. All but three of the Danish ships were sunk or taken.

Eighteen inscriptions found at Lachish, Palestine, contain correspondence of an official during a wartime attack, and show the kind of writing used by the prophet Jeremiah of the Bible.

Why Not Bring It Here?

The state chamber of commerce has asked Secretary Wallace to designate California as the site for the new $250,000 western farm products laboratory, as provided by the AAA of 1938.

In making the request, the chamber points out that California is the only logical place for it, not only because of the diversity of climatic and soil conditions, but also because the state is the center of western agriculture.

Here are a few facts about our state:

California now has more than 25 per cent of the rural population of the West, and more than 26 per cent of the farms. It produces 44 per cent of the farm income, and has more than 45 per cent of the value of farms and farm buildings.

California produces 52 per cent of the barley, 100 per cent of the rice, 96 per cent of the flaxseed, 26 per cent of the hay, 56 per cent of the beans, 62 per cent of the cotton, 61 per cent of the cottonseed, 100 per cent of the sweet potatoes, 89 per cent of the peaches, 50 per cent of the pears, 99 per cent of the grapes, 97 per cent of the dried prunes, 37 per cent of the cherries, 100 per cent of the oranges, 45 per cent of the grapefruit, 100 per cent of the lemons, 100 per cent of the apricots, 100 per cent of the figs, 100 per cent of the olives, 96 per cent of the almonds, 92 per cent of the walnuts, as shown by the state chamber's research study and embodied in the report.

Naturally a lot of communities are asking that the $250,000 laboratory be located there. The state chamber reports that 60 cities in the 11 Western states are out after the prize.

Orange county has everything to offer. Soil, climate, water, and a proven agricultural productivity.

Why not seek to have the laboratory located here?

That's a worthy project for every chamber of commerce in the county.

A Country Teacher Says:

Much of the wisdom dispensed by professional pedagogues at teachers' and parents' conventions leaves the average citizen puzzled or exasperated.

So we hasten to quote some advice by a country high school principal that should appeal to the average parent as it appeals to us, especially since this is Public Schools week.

Said Louis H. Colton, principal of the Sonoma Valley Union High school, to the Fourteenth District California Congress of Parents and Teachers at its annual convention at Sonoma:

"Time is wasted training children for jobs, because they don't know what jobs they will get. But every one is sure of entering into two phases of life—community and home. Four of five children who study history can't appreciate what they learn. Nine out of 10 girls who break their hearts trying to learn stenography never use it. But they do use the skill they learn in planning window draperies, learning about style and home management.

"Girls should learn home crafts, and boys should be taught how to mend furniture and how to repair the family car. And schools should teach the courtesies of domestic life. How crude and how uncouth is the average home! When the schools teach these things that are necessary for daily living, we can cut down divorces, because people will know how to get along together."

Mr. Colton, a Harvard graduate, by the way, brings the school problem down to earth.

Meddling In Business

Canada right now is right up to its ears in a problem caused by governmental meddling in business; a mix-up which should serve as a good example to government agencies in the United States.

During the last century Canada needed a transcontinental railroad. So the government subsidized private industry to the tune of $250,000,000 to build one.

This undoubtedly was a much-needed move. It helped tremendously in developing the country.

But the government wasn't satisfied to let a good job alone. Seeing that the one line made money, it went into the railroad business itself, building a government-owned rival transcontinental line, the Canadian National.

As a result, when the depression came along, neither line could make a dime. The government pays $50,000,000 a year in deficit on its own line. The other line hasn't paid a dividend on common stock in eight years.

And, so far, various Canadian governments haven't found a way out of the mess.

The one point on which most Canadians agree, however, is that it is folly for government to blindly enter competition with the private industry which develops the real wealth of the nation.

A Well-Deserved Tribute

"Education in its widest sense includes everything that exerts a formative influence, and causes a young person to be, at a given point, what he is."

This quotation from Mark Hopkins seems to be especially apt at a time when the city is honoring W. M. Clayton, vice president at Santa Ana High school, who is completing 36 years as an educator in this community.

For more than a third of a century the young men and women of Santa Ana have been coming under the formative influence of Mr. Clayton.

In this length of time they have come to know him for what he really is and to understand the part he has played in guiding their lives and characters along the right path.

Tonight's testimonial dinner for Mr. Clayton is being given by his former pupils. That fact in itself is evidence they appreciate his long and wise service in their behalf. The city joins in paying tribute to this fine educator and leader.

Associated chambers reject resolution demanding "the same high standards of dignity, courtesy and efficiency in county government that prevail in the conduct of private business." It was too much to hope for.

Daugherty's
Daughter

SARASOTA, Fla.—There was a gentle, kind old man stopping at the inn on the shore of the Gulf of Mexico a few days ago who somehow looked familiar and turned out to be Harry Daugherty, the attorney general and tough guy of the Warren G. Harding presidency. Time has changed Mr. Daugherty. He is 76 years old now and softened up by the blows of personal and political tragedy. His wife died after twenty-eight years of invalidism; his son, Draper, the pride and hope of his younger days, died some years ago, and of course the smash and scandal of the Harding administration left scars even on the cast iron hide of a man who was more furiously hated by more personal enemies I suppose than any other American since Abraham Lincoln.

I once was assigned to follow Mr. Daugherty to Miami and wherever else he might go at a time when there was some thought that he might jump the country and hole up in some banana port to avoid examination as a witness in certain phases of the Ohio regime in Washington.

Knowing that Mr. Daugherty was very sick, and wanting not to be a nuisance, I proposed to him after several days' surveillance that we make a deal. I was to let him alone and he promised to tell me in good time when he was leaving and where he was going. A week later he telephoned that he was going back to Washington that night, and that was all there was to it.

OLD MAN CHUCKLES

But the old man chuckled the other night as we sat in the dining room on the front porch at the thought of a reporter trailing an attorney general of the United States who had William J. Burns and his department fly cops doing the same to many worthy citizens. He had J. Edgar Hoover, too, good, but good enough, at that, says he, to see and hear the little good that there is in the world. He lives almost altogether in the past now, in the company of men who have died since the Ohio crowd went whooping into Washington with prohibition and Wayne Wheeler.

In his time he ripped and slashed for power and came on to be the personal boss of a president of the United States, so it was a little comic that night when the woman with the little boy came to go to the movies and the old-time tyrant told her to run right along and not worry, for he, Harry Daugherty, personally would sit up in the rocker in the dark at the foot of the little boy's bed and watch over him.

I mean no wrong to Mr. Daugherty when I say that irresistibly I was reminded of Damon Runyon's story of the retired safe blower and the kid, called "Butch Minds the Baby." He said the little boy looked just like Harry Daugherty at the same age, and he would like to sit in the dark and rock and cover him if he stirred or get him a drink—or anything.

CHUCKS IT ALL
Next day Karl Bickel came over to Bickel, the ex-president of the United Press, who had been around the world for years and years and clawed his way to the top in tough competition, and then suddenly he decided to retire to a drowsy, sunny little town way down the Florida Gulf coast and putter in little interests such as the Cabana club and Don Halton's free clinic for the sorrow children of the pure Anglo-Saxon backwoods crackers.

It cost $5 overhead to detach a cracker kid from his or her adenoids and tonsils and free the patient of hookworm, and the doctor, whose services are tossed in free, is now working on his last batch in the entire county, a group of twenty.

Mr. Daugherty and Mr. Bickel sometimes set in the case of two tired guys who were fierce and fast in action so short a time ago, talking like Noah and the hero of the Johnstown flood, of times gone past. And there was a man in the placid little community who went about leading a soft-eyed gentle old greyhound on a leash.

"Nice dog you have there," Mr. Bickel said. "Is he a racing dog?"

"He was," the man said. "He was a racing dog. His name is Smiles. He was a very good, fast dog, but one night he caught the rabbit. After that they lose interest. They discover that the thing they have been chasing so hard is just a phoney, and they just lie down in the box and watch the other dogs run, like saying, 'go dog, but run yourselves ragged for a mess of hair and sawdust!'"

Both Mr. Daugherty and Mr. Bickel took a liking to Smiles, and he would stretch out in some shady spot, sigh deeply and go to sleep.

NOT SO PORTABLE

"You have a very nice collection of books," complimented the neighbor, "but you really should have more shelves."

"I guess you're right," admitted the owner. "But somehow, I never could get up the nerve to try to borrow any shelves."

EVERYDAY MOVIES

"S' funny, we keep wishing all the time that our boy friends were more like the movie stars, yet looking at it another way the girls that marry 'em nearly always divorce 'em."

SAN DIEGO.—That the counties of Southern California are wise in preparing for a great influx of settlers following the opening of the Panama canal is borne out by the continued announcements of arrangements to secure waterfront and dockage accommodations at the San Diego and San Pedro harbors.

The most unique shipment yet received by the new parcel post service at the Santa Ana postoffice was made by W. W. Ranney, fullerton rancher, who started a swarm of bees to his brother, C. H. Ranney in Wyoming. The bees got only to San Bernardino where they were taken off the train by agricultural inspectors.

Mrs. Kate Measor, who was serving a six months' sentence on conviction of violating the prohibition ordinance, was released Saturday evening on a writ of habeas corpus issued out of the state supreme court. The contention made by Henry Nesbit, her attorney, is that the city ordinance does not apply, since the alleged offense was within the territory subject to the county ordinance.

By BOB BURNS

It must be wonderful to be able to write books that will benefit and influence mankind. The other day I attended a Hollywood party given in honor of a famous author. One young fellow came up and introduced himself to the author and said "I have just finished readin' a book that you wrote before you were married, and you made love sound so beautiful that I have decided to get married myself."

The author said "What was the name of the book?" The young fellow said "Love's Perfect Dream." The author said "Well, you want read the book I wrote since I got married—it's called 'The Awakening.'"

A Wisconsin farmer, to avoid the expense of building wooden forms or molds with which to make concrete fence posts used six-foot lengths of four-inch eave troughs. These were pivoted on rods inserted through the rolled edges of the troughs and supported between stationary end boards. As the concrete was poured, reinforcing rods and tie wires were inserted. When the posts had cured sufficiently for removal, each trough was swung over to inverted position to drop the "green" post on a curing board.

FDR Cockier Since Fireside Chat; Political Tide Turning His Way; LaFollette's Third Party Scare

WASHINGTON.—Callers who have talked to the President during the two weeks note a much more sure-footed and less care-worn Roosevelt. This change dates from the fireside chat and the message to congress outlining the recovery program.

Prior to that, there was no question that the President was worried and edgy. The old Roosevelt smile was still there, and his press conferences were about the same as ever, but underneath there was a definite tenseness.

Those who have sat down to chat with him privately during the last two weeks, however, say that this tenseness has entirely disappeared and that the President gives every impression of being completely in the driver's seat.

Undoubtedly one reason for this is the report which Roosevelt is getting from most parts of the country that the political tide is running with him again.

THIRD PARTY
Gov. Phil LaFollette's belligerent calling of a national Progressive conference was no surprise to the New Deal inner council—but that didn't make it any make it more palatable.

The inner circle boys had known for several months that Phil and his senatorial brother had turned very sour on the administration. The President's inactivity throughout the winter in the face of the steadily deepening recession and his failure to strengthen his cabinet, which Bob once bluntly told him was one of the "loudest in history," completely disgraced the two Wisconsin leaders. While they said nothing publicly, they made no secret of their feelings.

In fact, Bob became so aroused over Roosevelt's do-nothing policy that in February he wrote a speech severely criticizing it, and calling on the congressional liberals to take the initiative by launching a recovery program of their own.

For some unexplained reason the address never was delivered. Bob continued to go down the line for the administration on legislative issues, giving particularly valuable help in the senate fight over the reorganization bill. Despite this, neither he nor any of the other congressional liberals were consulted by Roosevelt when he finally started to formulate a new spending plan.

NEW DEAL WORRY
Some of the brass hat journalists will tell you that the inner group is not worried over the incipient third party movement. But that is not the case. There is very genuine worry, chiefly over the possibility that liberal forces might split just at a time when the conservatives are brushing aside traditional party lines and uniting, in a common drive to oppose anything remotely resembling progressives.

New Dealers blame Phil as chief instigator of the open clash with the White House. Phil is more impetuous, more spectacular than Bob. Also, he chafes at the confines of one state, is eager for a wider sphere of action.

This does not mean that Phil would like to park himself in a soft senate seat. He would probably have little difficulty in de-

DISCRIMINATION?

To the Editor: I have never seen this point raised, regarding the old age pension now in force in California. Why should the people who have raised a family be discriminated against and their families penalized by having to support their parents?

Statistics prove that it takes $6000 to raise a child to the age of 18 years, a very conservative figure I think. We have raised three children, all married now and with nothing to spare. They certainly couldn't afford to keep either of us yet if we applied for help, we would have all kinds of trouble and I doubt very much if we would get the pension.

Your own family might be willing enough, but what about a son-in-law or daughter-in-law who certainly would object. I think if there has to be any discrimination, it should be against the people who haven't raised a family. They ought to have enough saved to keep them in their old age.

Let's have some letters on this subject. B. T.

What Other Editors Say

LIFE AT 79

A book and a political battle have called attention to the fact that the men appointed to the fact tenure on the supreme court bench show a remarkable tendency to longevity.

Justice Willis Van Devanter, now retired, observed his 79th anniversary on Easter day. "He appeared," wrote a reporter, "to be in excellent health."

It surely is not their exalted position nor the hopes and ambitions of a thousand potential successors that make supreme court justices live to such ripe old ages. But what is it? Would it be logical to suppose that an active mind is a healthy mind, and that an active, healthy mind is quite likely to keep it physical housing—the body—active and healthy too?

In lieu of any better explanation it probably must be accepted as a fact that useful activity, no doubt aided by a sense of perfect security, makes for longer life. —Seattle Star.

UNFAIR TO DIE

Quoting the New York Times: "Local unions of the rival AFL and CIO in New York City made ready yesterday to submerge antagonisms in an effort to enforce organized labor's demands on the funeral industry."

The Funeral, Casket and Ambulance Chauffeurs' union, Local 643, of the AFL, warned that after May 1 it would handle no coffins made by non-union labor. Shortly afterward the United Cemetery Workers' union, CIO, made known its willingness to support the Funeral, Casket and Ambulance Chauffeurs' union.

Verily, the unions have expanded their scope in these last few years, extending them herein even unto the grave.

An important ethical if not an economic question automatically springs from this novel situation. Is a man who dies and is carried to his last resting place in a non-union coffin "unfair to organized labor?" —San Louis Obispo Press-Telegram.

RAIN EXPECTED

April's rather too early for showers (with snowstorms for extra trimmings) aren't really unseasonable at all, meteorologists of the U. S. weather bureau declare. The really unseasonable weather came during the warm weeks the country experienced during February and March, so that a chilly but not abnormal spell seems Arctic by comparison. The cold wave is quite orthodox in its origin and conduct; a mass of cold air from the Arctic, moving down through Canada and on into this country.

Striking the warm, moist air masses over Gulf and South Atlantic states, the cold wave has wrung out heavy rains over a wide stretch of country.

I acquired a book on which I saved exactly $4,987.50. Not a rare old volume that collectors were fighting over. It was as new as a fresh-laid egg.

The title is "The Birds of America." (The MacMillan company.) The reason that I claim a saving is that at one time a set of the pictures that appear in the book sold for $5000. Now the copy can be bought for $12.50.

Would you like to know something about the man responsible for this book? A man who got an idea and stuck to it through thick and thin?

John James Audubon. That isn't his real name, but the name of the man who adopted him! This French boy, born on the Island of Haiti, was adopted by a man named Audubon; and the boy took his name—and will make it famous for ten thousand years.

AS A BOY

As a boy the neighbors thought little of him. He sat around in trees all day watching birds, imitating their calls and making sketches. He was queer. He had an idea and would let nothing turn him aside.

He came to New York and got a job in an office. This was far removed from the woods and birds. He failed.

He went to Pennsylvania where he got a job. Failed.

He went to Kentucky, launched a business in partnership with another man. Failed.

He got married, had two children. The children liked to eat. He still made drawings of birds. Finally he became deeply in debt, was arrested and put in prison. Trees were near the prison—he kept on studying birds.

At last the law saw it had taught him a lesson and turned him loose—without a dollar. But he had two possessions—his clothes and his bird drawings. A man he owed money pounced on him, looked at his clothes.

"Bah! They ain't worth anything," he looked at the bird drawings. "They ain't worth anything, either."

BACK TO BIRDS

Out of jail, Audubon went right back to studying birds.

He worked his way down the river to New Orleans, but his reputation went west. He was a people said, who didn't have any more sense than to sit in trees and make sketches of birds. Why! he's just got out of jail in Kentucky! He went from place to place, asking for a job. Sometimes he got a little work, much of the time he didn't. Reduced to begging, he nearly starved.

Audubon thought he could sell some of his drawings in England. He engaged a man to do this for him, but the man decided not to go. The only thing left was for him to go. He wasn't a salesman, he told himself. But he had to sell.

He went to England and canvassed from door to door—and sold $16,000 worth of drawings! At the end of the year he was a world famous "Y"see, he didn't know any more money than to get an idea and stick to it.

All came up but one man, "Why, Brudder Jones, don't yo' want yo' sins washed away?"

"I done had my sins washed away."

Yo' has? Where yo' had yo' sins washed away?"

"Over at de church across de road."

"Ah, Brudder Jones, yo' ain't been washed, yo' jes' been dry cleaned." —TIT-BITS.
